And Declare for Taylor and the Free Coinage of Silver.

LESS THAN 100 GOLD MEN

In a Convention of Over One Thousand Members.

JUDGES NOMINATED IN JUST EIGHT MINUTES

The People Have Won a Great Victory Over the Combination of Patronage, Cash and Terrorism.

Nashville, Tenn., May 6 .- (Special.)-In a convention which was in session exactly eight minutes, democracy today nominated M. M. Neil, of Gibson; R. M. Barton, of Iton, and S. F. Wilson, of Sumner, for judges of the court of chancery appeals. Hon. John A. Tipton, of Tipton county, was chairman. In order to eliminate the election of judges from politics, state law provides for a separate convention for their ction. As seen from the rapid manner in which business was conducted today, the convention was held simply to comply with law. The same men who nominated the judges will tomorrow meet and name a

Through the Campaign. The campaign through which the people have just passed has been one singular in a good many respects. The people who had contributed to an democratic national victory in 1892 saw themselves betrayed and delivered over to the political enemy. They saw alleged democratic officials hobnobbing and consorting with republicanism, having only words of contempt for the democratic voter, and ner has not a word to say.

courting the educational influences of Wall street. In order to punish Senators Harris and Bate, the veteran tribunes who refused to be "used" by the money power, they saw the goldbug claquers within their ranks refuse to support the democratic hominee for the governorship in 1894, thus throwing that election into confusion. The head and front of this offending against the integrity of the party was in the city Memphis, where 50 per cent of the voters bstained from the polls. It was with deep seeling that Governor Turney said to The tution correspondent at the time: "I have been elected governor fairly and squarely. There has been a falling off in the democratic vote and a rallying of the republican vote, due to the goldbug leaders, who desired to see the democracy dement might be stamped out. It is for this purpose that 'the Chattanooga paper and hose of its ilk have fought the democratic organization so persistently. But we will hold to our guns until our cause triumphs.'

The Appearance of Josiah. It was at this time that Josiah Patterson bloomed out as a newly discovered light in finance. He had been a free colnage howler, and upon the strength of it secured a seat in congress. The story is that William C. Whitney, as the inside manager of the forces which held the ear of the administration, was attracted to Patterson because he represented the great inland cotton port of the country. He argued that the cotton men of Memphis were under such obligations to bankers and business men of New 10rk and Liverpool that they could be driven, if they did not succum to courting. Accordingly Josiah received an "invite" to a dining given by Mr. Whitney. Then Mr. Patterson forgot all about the barefooted and almost barebacked farmer in Tifton county. From that moment he was a goldbug, and returned home with a mission to preach to the benighted. Carmack Stands Out. But there was one brave man who refuse to be bought or cajoled-E. W. Carmack, the chief editor of The Memphis Commercial. Against all influences he held aloft allow himself to be Wattersonized. The business office raged, the stock was bought up by men who felt that they could wield the rod over Carmack, but all to no purpose. The counties began to speak in selecting delegates for the convention now on, declaring for free silver, for Bob Tayler for governor and for Carmack, Harris and Bate for delegates at large to Chicago. The test was brought home to Memphis control of The Commercial. But the battle had been won! The peonnessee and up to the very gates of Memphis had been aroused and Carmack became the prominent figure—the one man who if the convention was free from pre vious pledges, would tomorrow be nominated by acclamation for the governor ship. As it is, he will be one of the dele gates at large to Chicago and now holds the lead in Tennessee politics. Tonight he divides honors with Bob Taylor, and wherever Carmack appears he is surrounded by a group of admirers who eagerly listen to the words that drop from his lips. Ishmaelites at Work.

Even now, though the battle has been fought and won, the goldbug press is exhibiting its indifference, if not its enmity, toward .the democracy of the state. This point has been well illustrated by the conduct of the Nashville press. The primary in this (Davidson) county was purposely deleved until one day last week. The result throughout the state was already known, and the path blazed out by the democracy of the counties should have been followed by the press of Nashville, t intended to give an honest support the convention soon to assemble. The party in Davidson county is threatened by unscrupulous foe, in the presence of facts? The Nashville Banner, the goldbug organ which scuttled the ship in 1894 in every way, threw cold water upon the primary, stating in advance that the vote would be light, and throwing such discredit upon it as to induce people to stay away; The Nashville American, which has been of goldbug hue under its last ownership, minimized the primary as being merely for local issues, and The Nashville Sun, alone the stalwart champion of silver democracy, aided nobly in calling the people to the polls. It was a brilliant victory which this newspaper won, for the democracy turned out in force, routed the goldbugs and gave the county to free coinage by a handsome majority.

Now that it has been whipped on every side, The Nashville Banner is at work preparing for the defeat of the work of the present convention so far as its influence goes. It publishes a long and mournful editorial, reciting the fact that 50,000 democrats abstained from voting in 1894, and intimating, by furnishing argument to justify them, that they should repeat this performance in 1896. Perhaps this statement might be made stronger, for the editorial points to an open bolt and revolt when it says: "In 1894 50,000 democrats declined to vote," but this year they may protest by their votes against the rule or ruin policy." From this The Banner goes on to say that the silver men "have organized as a faction to prevent a representation of sound money democrats in the state convention, drumming up their forces to control county conventions and to enforce the unit rule to shut out a majority voice."

The Unit Rule. The cry against the unit rule come with poor grace from men who have profited all along by the enforcement of it. It was through the unit rule only that Mr. Cleveland secured the nomination in 1892. When, in the course of that convention there was a probability that delegates would be permitted to vote as they wished, it put the Cleveland men into confusion One member of the present cabinet who assumes a great deal of physical glory to himself, tells how Whitney was in despair, when this stalwart cabinet member in embryo assumed the task of seeing the dele gates and having the unit rule enforced. "When I came back to Mr. Whitney at 3 in the morning," says he, "and told him that all was safe, the unit rule would be adhered to, he threw his arms about me in silent thanks." It is these recipients of the reward for choking off the people, who now cry out for the recognition of the minority. Even in Shelby county the other day, when the delegates were mixed, the goldbug majority has adopted the unit rule, thus squeezing out the minority, but against this The Ban-

All this, however, is in the past. Tennes see has spoken again, and her voice is for true democracy and free silver. PROHIBITION CONVENTION

Favors Government Issue of Currency Direct, Redeemable in Silver.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 6.-The prolibiion state convention met here today and ominated A. A. Parker, of Cambria county, and J. S. Kent, of Delaware county, candidates for congressmen at large. A full delegation to the national convention at Pittsburg was selected.

The platform declares "that the currency of the nation should be issued by the gen eral government without intervention of individuals or corporations, and should consist of treasury notes which shall be legal tender for the payment of all debts and semable in gold and silver bullion at the market value.'

Silent on Financial Question.

Trenton, N. J., May 6.—The New Jersey prohibitionists held their state convention in this city today for the election of delegates to the national convention at Pittsburg. A full delegation was selected. The platform is silent upon financial questions and declares prohibition to be the dominant issue in national politics Selected Delegates.

Jackson, Miss., May 6.-The prohibition state convention held here today selected nineteen delegates to the national conven-tion which meets in Pittsburg, May 10th. Only eight delegates attended the state convention, including the secretary and chair

INSURGENTS REPULSE SPANISH TROOPS WITH LARGE LOSS.

Two Spanish Forts Surrendered—Latge Fire Near Hawana Causes Much Alarm to Spaniards.

Havana, May 6 .- Details of the Cacaraplara fight have been received and show that the Cubans won a great victory and were not defeated as the Spanish official report stated. Maceo was not present. The insurgents numbered 2,000 under Delgado and Socarras, and occupied a strong fortified position. Their position was attacked by Spaniards under General Inclan. who were repulsed repeatedly. Finally the insurgents charged and drove the Spaniards, the latter retreating to Bahia Honda and being continually harpssed The Spanish loss was about 200 killed and nearly 300 wounded. Insurgent loss was slight owing to the protection of hills. Generall Bernall has been recalled and it is said will be court martialed for failing to arrive in time to aid General Inclan, Fire at Punta Brava was very destructive The entire town was burned. The glare was seen in Havana and caused great excitement. Two forts surrendered to fhe insurgents. The Spanish commander has been arrested by Weyler's orders and it said will be court martialed and shot.

SOUTHERN SETTLERS ADJOURN.

Resolutions Favoring the Chicago Cotton Exposition Were Adopted. Southern Pines, N. C., May 6 .- The second day's session of the southern states settlers' convention here began at 10 o'clock a. m. Most of it was devoted to speech making. Among the speakers were General J. R. Lewis, of Atlanta, permanent president of the convention and of the settlers' association, and who also presented the claims of Georgia to northern emigration.

Marked interest was manifested in the plan of making an exhibit at Chicago, and the convention unanimously adopted the following:

"Resolved, That the liberty and enter-prise of the citizens in Chicago in pro-posing to organize and maintain the Chi-cago and Southern States exposition for the display of southern resources and in-dustries is characteristic of the great western metropolis of our country.

"Resolved, That this convention of southern citizens from many cities extend most hearty thanks to Chicago and the enterprising gentlemen who conceived and will carry to successful termination this proposed exposition."

An Adjournment Resolution Was Finally Passed Yesterday.

HILL AND THE BOND INQUIRY

He Is Trying Hard To Talk the Resolution to Death.

Judge Crisp and General Catchings Succeed in Bringing About Peace Between Hall and Money.

Washington, May 6 .- (Special.)-The house this morning adopted a resolution for the adjournment of congress on the 18th. This is a notification on the part of the house to the senate that it is ready to adjourn. The resolution will rest in the senate until that body thinks it sees its way clear to adjournment. That may be the first of June or it may be the middle of July.

Senator Pasco, of Florida, had an interview with the secretary of state this morning about the persons captured on board the schooner Competitor by the Spaniards. Mr. Olney told the Florida senator that he was making every effort to protect the American citizens captured on that vessel, and that if congress would just hands off the matter for a time, he thought it probable that he could get them released, as he had done in the case of Dr. Diaz. A batch of some twenty nominations of ostmasters was sent to the senate today, but that of Vandiver, of the Rome postofice, was not among them. Mr. Vandiver is unfortunate in being a silver man, Amicably Adjusted. The Money-Hall difficulty has at last been amicably adjusted. Judge Crisp and General Catchings acted as mediators and brought the two men together today. The difficulty seems to have been the result of a misunderstanding on the part of Mr. Money of the words first attered by Mr.

Hall. Hill and the Bond Inquiry. Senator David Bennett Hill is mystifying the senate these days. He is engaged in a premeditated attempt to talk the bond investigating resolution to death. For several days he has occupied all of the time of the senate, after the morning business has been disposed of, talking against time He pretends to be defending and protecting the administration, all the time declaring that there is no necessity of an invesigation of the loan issues. Yet Secretary Carlisle has sent him word repeatedly that he would be glad to have an investigation of the bond issues. Indeed, Carlisle thinks, after all of the charges that have been made, that an investigation on the part of the senate would be the best thing that could happen. He wants to make a full explanation of his side of the case and he thinks an official committee investigation would be the best way to do it.

Just for what purpose Hill has been playing his role is not known. Late this afternoon the senate grew very tired of business and threatened to sit all night and give him full opportunity to test his strength of lung and voice. That was too much for the New Yorker, and having no support, he agreed not to oppose a vote at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The senate will then pass the resolution, but the investigation will develop

An Unfavorable Report. Senator Pasco has filed a printed report on the Methodist publishing house bill which serves to confirm the belief that he is unfriendly to the measure.

The report contains less than two pages of original matter, not a line of which com mends the measure. On the contrary he submits with his report extracts from pe-titions, records, etc., filed before congress showing the weakest points in the claim while he totally ignores the large amount of substantial evidence filed in support of the claim. CLASSIFIED LIST INCREASED. The President Signed the Civil Service Extension Law.

Washington, May 6.-The president, by his signature to day, extended the provisions of the civil service law to 3,000 government employes, increasing the numbe of positions on the classified list from 55,136 to 58,135 and with a few minor exceptions between the extremes of officials whose confirmation by the senate is constitutionally requisite, down to mere laborers and workmen, governmental appointments are withdrawn as far as possible from political influence and protected in their tenure of effice by the merit system. The president's signature, at 11 o'clock this morning cancelling all former orders issued and substituting the new rules, was immediately filed in the state department and went into effect at once, thus forestalling any possible action throughout the country by appointing officials or transferring employes or in any other way evading the rules before being formally notified of them. From the moment of its signature the new order made all government official directly responsible to the commission for appointments and changes. Today's revision of the rules divides the executive civil service into five branches as follows: The departmental service, the custom hous service, the postoffice service, the government printing service and the internal revenue service.

In the Cepartmental service are calssified all officers and employes (except la borers and persons who have been nomi nated for confirmation) in the several executive departments, the commissions, the railway mail service. Indian service, the District of Columbia, pension agencies steamboat inspection service, revenue cut ter service, sub-treasuries and engineer departments and the forces employed by custodians of public buildings. The only exception made in the treasury departmen

In the custom house service are classified all officers and employes in any cus-toms district whose employes number as many as five. In the postoffice service are classified all officers and employes in any free delivery postoffice.

In the internal revenue service are classified all officers and employes in every internal revenue district except, of course,

RESULTS OF OTHER TRACK AND FIELD EVENTS

Atlanta Took the Game from Montgomery-Two Games in Birmingham-The National League.

Louisville, Ky., May 6.-Great is Ben Brush. Today, at Churchill Downs, before one of the greatest crowds that ever assembled at that world-famous track, and in a finish that tried and showed his mettle to the very last grain, the homely-looking, but honest king of all three-year-olds bobbed his head first under the wire in as bruising finish, as was ever witnessed on a race track. This was the twenty-second derby that has been run over the Louisville course, and it proved one of the best in the history of the club. The crowd was more than the commodious grand stand could accommodate, every seat being taken, the aisles jammed with spectators and the steps packed and running over, the space in front of the stand black with humanity and enough in the field to fill a large theater. The betting on the big event opened with Ben Brush the favorite at 1 to 2, the price varying from this to 2 to 5; First Mate second choice at 4 to 1; Semper Ego and Ulysses next, at 6 to 1, and the others ranging in price from 10 to 50. the paddock, followed by Parson, Ulysses, the winner, Ben Brush, The Dragon, Semper Ego and First Mate, in the named. After a delay of about twenty-five minutes, caused by the crankiness of First Mate and Semper Ego, they were sent away to a good start with Semper Ego in the lead, Ben Eder second and the winner third. Passing the stand, First Mate had assumed command with Ego second. First Mate held the lead to the stretch, where Sims, on Ben Brush, and Taber, on Ben Eder, came to the front, and the struggle between the son of Bramble and the son of Fonso began. They came down the stretch at lightning speed, their field beaten off and nodding their heads together like a piece of machinery, whalebone and steel being plied ner, but Sims called on Ben Brush for a Montgomery, Ala., May 6 .- (Special.)-It took ten innings to decide the last game of the series between Montgomery and the Gate City boys, but at the end of that time Knowles's men pulled out a great victory by scoring without a man out and the bases full It was ladies' day, and the fair sex turned out in large numbers, filling the stands to their capacity. The crowd numbered about 1,500, including ladies and the fans on the bleachers, who pulled so hard for the game. The Montgomery people are wild on the fine article of ball put up by both teams in this series, and the interest in the national game here is at fever heat.

Norton had the locals shut out up to the seventh inning when, with two out, Bailey surprised the crowd by making a home run. The lucky seventh gave Montgomery two runs, but this was not enough, and, as they failed to score again, Knowles's colts won the game in the tenth inning. It was a fine game from start to finish, and the fielding on both sides was clean and almost faultless. The Montgomery fans were put in a shiv the first when Callahan went out to Balley; Norton singled to left; Fields followed third, from where he scored on Mangan's fumble of Knowles's infield hit. Mont-gomery failed to score till the seventh, when, with two men out. n Peeples's hit to left. With the score 2 to 1 in favor of Mont gomery, the colts came in and tied the score in the eighth, when Norton got a life on an error, but went out at second. Fields made a two-base hit; Knowles drew a base on balls, and Walker, who was substituted for Wagner, made a hit to left, scoring Fields, which made the game a tie; and it was not until the tenth inning that it was broken. Norton started the fireworks with a single; Fields got a hit to left field; Knowles got his base on balls, filling the bases, with no one out. Walker came to the bat and went to first on balls, forcing in Norton with

Proceedings of Meeting of Southeastern Tariff Association

AT WASHINGTON YESTERDAY

Address of President Egleston on Business To Be Transacted-Report of Inspector Schoen, Etc.

Washington, May 6 .- (Special.)-The fireenth annual meeting of the Southeastern Tariff Association commenced its session at the Shoreham here today, with fiftythree companies answering the roll and ninety-three representatives.

President Thomas Egleston delivered his annual address, which was referred to a ommittee of fifteen, composed of Messrs. Castleman, Whitner, Weeks, Clark, Wray, Alfred, McIlwaine, Dewey, Wensley, Lowe, Thomas, Randelph, Gay, Stockdell and Milon Dargan.

The president, in his address, congratulating the association on achievements, presented several portant subjects to be consider considered. He said the executive committee deserved thanks for the work it had done on the new general tariffs; recommended that the charge of $75 per $1,000 for the use of keroene oil stoves in dwelling houses be abolished; Indorsed Mr. Macon Sharp for another term as fire inspector at Atlanta, and on state legislation said:

on state legislation said:

"I regret to say that since the last annual meeting several of the states within the jurisdiction of the association have placed upon their statute books laws which are most prejudicial to your interests, as well as to those of the insuring public. A large number of your members and agents have exerted themselves to the utmost to prevent the passage of these bills, but in some of the states the best directed efforts proved futile. The intelligent public desire to purchase insurance as any other commodity, but the legislatures persist in making laws for them. A contract of insurance which provides indemnity does not suit the legislator of today. Arguments, facts, expert testimony, count for naught. The policy of indemnity must be legislated into a negotiable bill of exchange for its face value and payable to bearer.

"These laws produce but one result—in-

"These laws produce but one result—increased losses and expenses. The only remedy is to increase rates sufficiently to meet this further demand upon your resources. There certainly should be no doubt in the minds of underwriters as to what is required. It is to be regretted that the executive

Inspector Schoen's Report.

Mr. A. M. Schoen, electrician, after speaking of the slack way in which wiring had been done and the beneficial results obtained by increased rates for defective work, says:

"Having the opportunity, I wish to call attention strongly to a new hazard shortly to be dealt with. Since the expiration, within the last eighteen months, of the Bell patents new telephone companies are being formed all over the country Most are backed by small capital, consequently the construction is very inferior in the streets. Our streets, generally very narrow, are getting a net-work of high and low tension overhead wires, and the crossing of telephone call bell, burglar alarm and other such systems with the lighting and power wires is becoming a serious menace to property, unless the city council work, says: and power wires is becoming a serious menace to property, unless the city council interfere and require the work properly done by framing necessary ordinances. I have found this feature most difficult to handle and am still at a loss how to act beyond bringing the matter to the attention of the companies."

A TALK FROM DR. LOVE.

Writes on the Matter of the Election of a Secretary.

Dr. I. N. Love, who called for the read-ing of the amendment of the constitution, which was introduced at last year's meeting in Baltimore, stated that the action was dictated by many members of last year's nominating committee and other friends of the association interested in the best business and scientific interests of the association. "An effort has been made repeatedly during the past ten years," said Dr. Love, "for the displacement of the present secre-tary of the association, based upon his in-efficiency. He has served the association tary of the association, based upon his inefficiency. He has served the association for twenty-seven years—at least ten years too long—and the question involved is whether the American Medical Association is possessed of the power to elect its secretary. Last year the nominating committee, representing every state in the union, unanimously elected a successor to Dr. Atkinson, the present incumbent. The technical point of order was raised by some of his friends that the constitution precluded any change in the office of secretary, and that he could not be removed except by death, resignation, or the presentment of charges. Surely when every state in the union had favored a successor, a man possessed of the proper delicacy, would have tendered his resignation. I disclaim any personal feeling in the premises other than those of sympathy for Dr. Atkinson, and feel that his best friends should advise him to resign. In the conduct of a great national organization, representing a profession numbering more than 120,000 doctors, sentiment should cut no figure, and only that which is best for the body from a business, scientific and general standpoint should be considered.

The amendment to the constitution will be presented in the regular form today, and passed to its first reading. Next year it can be brought up in proper manner. But in the mean time, it is to be hoped that, Dr. can be brought up in proper manner. But in the mean time it is to be hoped that Dr. Atkinson's own judgment will come to his rescue, or that some reasonably wise friend will advise him to tender his resignation, thus manifesting a proper regard for his own do ity."

THE WELL-KNOWN INSTRUCTOR SUCCEEDS JUDGE FAIN.

Major R. J. Guinn Was Elected County School Commissioner Yesterday.

Professor R. J. Guinn, the assistant state school commissioner, was yesterday elected county school commissioner to fill the va-cancy caused by the death of Judge John than twelve years.

The county board of education held s called meeting yesterday morning and a full board was present, including the three new members recently elected and two of the old board whose term of office has not yet expired.

There were but two candidates for the position who stood the examination. Pro-fessor Guinn and Professor E. B. Moore, both of whom have been long identified with school work in the county and who are widely known throughout the state. Both examinations were exceedingly good, out the preference of the board was that Professor Guinn be selected, and the 1 term of four years, which begins this morning, will be filled with Major Guinn in the commissioner's chair.

Major Guinn has been assistant chool commissioner for six years and was appointed to that office by Commissioner Bradwell and re-appointed by Commissioner R. G. Glenn. His work has been of er R. G. Glenn. His work has been of the highest and most satisfactory character, and he has filled the position with honor and credit. He enters his new field of labor fully equipped for the duties of the office and under the new regime the educational affairs of the county will doubtless prosper.

Commissioner Guinn will make the bond and take the oath of office this morning and will actively enter upon the duties of his office today. One of the first duties to claim his attention will be the making out of the payroll for the first quarter and he will in a few days pay the teachers their salaries, which are now considerably past due.

MADE HIS REPORT.

Superintendent Woodward's Monthly Statement to the Water Board.

The board of water commissioners held regular session yesterday afternoon and passed up much routine business which had accumulated during the month. Chairman Hillyer was unable to be present, but a quorum was on hand and the work speedily transacted. The report of Superintendent Park Woodward was read. Since Colonel Woodward took charge the department has undergone many changes, all of which have been of great benefit. The report of the superintendent said in

The report of the superintendent said in substance:

"My last report informed you that the new thirty-inch main had been completed and tested as far as North avenue, but work was delayed in making the connection at that point on account of failure to receive the check valve, which was overdue about ten days. As soon as this valve was received it was put in, the connection made, and work pushed forward as rapidly as possible on the remaining thirty-inch sine, and extending 250 feet south of North avenue along Marietta street, and from there reduced to twenty-four inches. The twenty-four-inch pipe was exteaded 183 feet with extra heavyweight pipe, which was obtained from the exposition grounds and the old pumping station at South river. The pipe was again reduced 439 feet from North avenue to twenty inches, which was extended along Marietta street 1,468 feet to the corner of Johns' street, and again reduced from twenty to sixteen in hes, one length, and to twelve inches one length, and to six inches, which made the final connection with the main on Marietta street. By this manner of requeing friction is overcome and the gamage of a blowout is greatly reduced. The actual distance from North avenue, by measurement, to connect with the six-inch main, is 1,963 feet.

"All of the six-inch main, is 1,963 feet.
"All of the six-inch pipe taken from Marietta street—1,48; feet—has been hauled to the following streets, passed up by the board: Linden avenue, Georgia avenue and Grant street.

Pipe will be laid on the other streets passed up as soon as it is taken up on North Pryor and Church streets. Very nearly all the material is on the ground now for that work, and as soon as everything is ready the work will be commenced and pushed forward day and night until completed.
"Electrolysis—There has been found on the six-inch pipe on Marietta street an unusual formation of scale and barnacles not usual formation of scale and barnacles not heretofore 10 und except on the 33-inch main, and suppose it to be caused by electrolysis.

"Meter and Tapping Departments—Since the consolitation of these two departments March 21st, 83 meters have been repaired, examined, reset and condemned. All complaints as to leaks, excessive water bills, etc., have been attended to and all meters rested before being reset. In addition to this work part of the force has worked on the shop tepairs. Since the order requiring the meter inspectors to make daily reports as to all meters not registering went into effect this department is not experiencing the trouble and useless loss of time in examining meters that were reported N. G. and found running.

"The work on meters is now practically up with the reports of the inspectors, and unless something unexpected occurs all meters can be repaired as rapidly as reported. No meters can be out of service from twelve to eighteen months as was formerly the case.

"In the tapping and plumbing department there has been an extraordinary amount of work as compared with the work done at the same date last year. There have been issued since March 21st 109 new taps, all of which have been made with the exception of sixten. These haven't been made on account of the non-arrival of main cocks, which have been ordered since April 14th, but did not arrive until May 4th at 7:30 p. m. They were lost on the road, and it required telegrams and tracers innumerable to get them here. On Auburn avenue all old iron services have been removed with the exception of one block, and this work will be completed as soon as granite blocks are removed and main lowered between laid.

"Repairs have been made to all drinking hydrants, mains and valves that were out of order.

"We have a good machinist now in the employ of this department and it would not be necessary to get any additional help except in case of emergency. There is considerable repair work at both pumping stations that could be done here at a small cost.

" eretofore found except on the 30-inch main, and suppose it to be caused by elec-ing stations that could be done here at a small cost.

"Since January 1st there has been 1,172 meters repaired, on 478 of which there was no charge, and 685 on which parts were furnished and for which there was charged $422.55. This money was collected by the tax collector and turned into the city treasury.

"Department of Engines—I submit herewith a report of the chief engineer as to duty performed at both stations and also as to all matters pertaining to his department. Respectfully submitted,

"PARK WOODWARD,
"Superintendent."

This morning the board of commissione will go out to witness the testing of the new main on the corner of North avenue and Marietta street. An interesting test

W. W. Parker.

W. W. Parker.

Albany, Ga., May 6.—(Special.)—Colonel W. W. Parker died this morning in this city after a few days' illness from a complicated derangement of the bowels. For ten or fifteen years Colonel Parker has made Albany his home, becoming a member of the family of his beloved friend, Hon. H. M. Mcintosh. Colonel Parker was for many years a resident of Macon, but gave that city up for Albany. He was honest, pure, true and generous, and was beloved by every one.

He never married but spent a pleasurable life in the pursuit of game from field and forest. Colonel Parker's remains will be interred in Oak View cemetery to-morrow mornig.

Speeches and Wit Enlivened the Happy Occasion-Harry Sharp Helps Them Enjoy the Day.

The Georgia Pharmaceutical Association, which has been in session in this city for the past two days, adjourned yesterday afternoon, after an interesting meeting that lasted for several hours. When the meeting was called to order

All of the papers that were not read during the meeting of the first day were read yesterday morning. D. R. Staufacher read a strong paper in answer to the query, "What is the future triturates?" Dr. Slack's paper was one of the most interesting read, and he was congratulated upon it.

ease. It was considered incurable. As soon as it developed enough so that a physician could decide that it was really consumption, the patient was considered as good as dead. Years ago, Dr. Pierce found out that consumption was not incurable, that it was not necessarily fatal. He not only found this out, but he found out a way to cure consumption. He introduced his "Golden Medical Discovery." The "Discovery" will cure of per cent. of all cases of consumption if it is taken according to directions. Consumption is a disease of the blood. It is caused by impoverishment of the blood, and by the existence of disease-germs in the system. If the body is perfectly strong and healthy, and the blood perfectly pure, germs are easily thrown off. If the body is weak, if the tissues are incapable of much resistance, the germs find a resting place and develop. That's the way consumption begins.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" searches out the germs, forces them out of the system and cures consumption and other kindred diseases of the throat, bronchia and lungs. No doubt about it, no question about it. It has done it in hundreds and thousands of cases. The "Discovery" is sold at drug stores.

Finance Committee Reports the Ex-Clerk Short in That Amount.

A SETTLEMENT IS EXPECTED The Entire Matter Was Referred to Committee with Power To Act.

THE SHORTAGE COVERS SEVERAL YEARS

Mr. Cooper's Attorneys Ask for an Early Conference with a View of Liquidating the Amount.

The amount of money which ex-County Clerk John Tyler Cooper is due the county has been placed at $7,331.42.

These figures are the result of the examination of the books and records which has been conducted under the direction of the finance committee of the board of county commissioners and include $5,553.17, principal, and $1,778.25, interest.

At the meeting of the board of county commissioners yesterday, the report was filed by the finance committee and was adopted by the board and on motion was referred to the committee on finance and County Attorney Rosser, with power to act, subject to the ratification of the board. Mr. Cooper was not present at the meetg, but was represented by Attorneys B. Hill and J. T. Glenn, who have been retained as his counsel. The report, which had been prepared by

Mr. Waldo, was quite lengthy, and on this account it was not read, but copies were ordered to be made and the matter was Attorney Glenn stated to the commission ers that he had no desire to enter into a discussion of the matter, but wanted it referred to a committee which would confer with the attorneys of Mr. Cooper.

The Committee's Report.

The result of the investigation which has been made by the finance committee is embodied in the report which was filed with the board of county commissioners. The examination of the records was made by an expert accountant, A. L. Waldo, and the report he made the finance commi

"In obedience to the instructions given "In obedience to the instructions given me by your committee to investigate and report to you the amound due by Mr. John Tyler Cooper to Fulten county on account of collections made for liquor and show license, etc., during his term of office as clerk of the board of commissioners of roads and revenues, I have made diligent search through the records of the office and other sources, and submit herewith my re-port. By this report and the various exnibits attached you will see that the fol-

"Prior and up to that time the clerk kept a cash book, upon which was entered a record of all receipts. He also kept a show license book with printed forms for licenses, and this book was in use within the past year, as shown by the printed licenses issued to Mr. L. DeGive.

"Neither of the books can now be found, although diligent search has been made for them. Without them there is no way to find out how much has been collected from circuses and other visiting shows since 1889.

them. Without them there is no way to find out how much has been collected from circuses and other visiting shows since 1889.

"By reference to exhibit A it will be seen that the commissioners in January, 1882, fixed the price of quart licenses, outside the corporate limits of Atlanta, West End and East Point, at $500 per annum, and this price was not changed until 1887.

"Between these dates there were issued eight quart licenses which appear to come under this head:

"J. W. Dennis, on Mayson and Furner's Ferry road, 1882; J. A. Loftis, on Marietta road, 1882; J. A. Loftis, on Marietta road, 1882; M. Rich, Marietta road, including the property and Howell's Mill roads, 1883 and 1882; Hollis & Bohanon, Marietta road, 1883.

"Mr. Cooper, however, states most positively that only $25 was charged for each of these licenses, as this portion of the county

There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condi-tion of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, prompt-ly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one romedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California. which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all rep-and he replied that he did not recollect the amount.

"I believe the statements made by Mr. Cooper and Mr. Loftis in regard to this matter to be true, and hence, I have charged these licenses in the statement at 225 each, but think best to bring the matter to your attention. The amount involved is $3,800, being the difference between $500 each and $25 each on eight licenses.

"There was formerly kept by the clerk of your board a book upon which "sales of estrays" were entered. The book is still in the office, but no entry of sales has been made in it since it was examined by Mr. W. T. Wall and myself in 1886. I have not been enabled to learn whether or not any estrays have been sold since then."

A Settlement Anticipated. The commissioners now fully believe that the shortage will be adjusted and the ac-the shortage will be adjusted and the account with the county balanced.

The conference between the finance committee and the attorneys will probably be held before the week passes, and the proposition to settle, which was hinted at several days ago, will doubtless be made.

Mr. Cooper has had but little to say since he placed the matter in the hands of his attorneys, but there is now but little doubt that the money will soon be placed to his credit on the books of the county.

THE SOCIETY CIRCUS.

THE DATE HAS BEEN DEFINITELY FIXED FOR NEXT MONDAY.

The Ladies of the Grady Hospital Auxiliary Are Working Hard for Its Success.

The date for the "Society Circus" has been positively and finally fixed. The en-tertainment will be given next Monday night at the tabernacle. It was original-ly intended to give the circus this week, but it was found impossible to complete the building of the wagons, chariots, cages and other paraphernalia for the parade so the affair was postponed until Monday. By that time everything will be in readiness and the monster entertainment will be given according to programme.

One of the biggest and most interesting features of the affair will be the street parade. This will be a novel and unique pageant and one that will delight the features of the affair will be the street parade. This will be a novel and unique pageant and one that will delight the pageant and one that will delight the multitudes. Big wagons and trucks belonging to various firms about town will be converted into circus wagons and cases. making a most effective part of the making a most elective part of the parade.

Messrs. Morris & Childs, the Standard Ice Company, Mr. Martin Amorous, the Atlanta Baggage Company, the Southern Express Company and others have kindly donated the use of wagons, trucks or vans for the parade, while Messrs. Milam & Patterson, Harrison & Herren, Stewart & Bowden, W. O. Jones and Byrd L. Lewis have consented to loan carriages for the same purpose.

Those who will participate in the circus proper are busy rehearsing their parts or acts. Mr. Harry Silverman, who will be ringmaster, is getting his voice in trim to make announcements and is practicing cracking his whip, while the numerous clowns, Messrs. Hunter, Course, C. Christian, Henry Harris, "Onrev" and others are lining up their funny business.

Professor Toepel and his Turn Verein classes are rehearsing daily and their part of the programme will prove a rare treat. The exhibition of the work of these classes will be extremely interesting to every one and will be among the most attractive features of the big programme.

Everyone loves dogs and all like to see finely bred animals. Of the many species of these animals none are so imposing looking and magnificent as the majestic St. Bernards. There is a man in Atlanta, Professor W. H. Barbour, who has eleven of the finest St. Bernards in this country. They are valued at about $3,000 and will be seen in the circus. "These dogs alone," in the vernacular of the circus bill, "are worth twice the price of admission."

No circus would be complete without bareback riders. The "Society Circus" will have several. Mr. Eugene Schmidt will be one of them and there will be several others, each an artist in his line.

The trapeze and bar performers are the best in the city. Their names will be announced within the next few days, as indeed, will the entire programme as soon as it can be arranged.

Reserved seats will be placed on sale at Harry Silverman's Saturday morning.

$25,000 PER ANNUM

Mr. Forrest Adair Says the County Has Been Losing That Amount.

AN INVESTIGATION TO FOLLOW

It Is Claimed That Banking and Loar Companies Have Been Giving in Assets at a Low Valuation.

Commissioner Forrest Adair created sersation yesterday morning in the meetng of the board of county commissioners when he stated to the board that he had made the discovery that the county had been losing many thousand dollars annually on account of the failure of corporations to give in the full amount of their property for taxation. Mr. Adair said he had been quietly making an investigation for several days, and the leakage was discovered by making a research into the tax books of the county and comparing the amount of property re turned by the sworn statements of the banking and loan companies which were annually filed with the comptroller gen-

The statement which was furnished the board by the commissioner created sur-prise, as Mr. Adair had not mentioned the matter until he had completed his in vestigation, which was late

The matter was referred to the finance committee and county attorney after quite will be made at once by this committee and a report will be made back to the board at the next meeting, or at a called meeting if necessary

Mr. Adair stated that he was sure the amount lost by the county on account of the failure of the banking and loan firms to give in the full value of their property for taxaticn would amount to at least $25, 000 per annum, and probably more, as he had not made a very extended research into the matter, but had seen enough to cause him to make the statement to the board.

Mr. Adair Throws a Bomb.

"I have a matter which I wish to bring to the attention of the board, Mr. Chair-man," said Mr. Adair, as he brought forth a batch of papers from his pocket. "In examining the tax digest my attention ha that have been made by several large corporations in Atlanta, and I have gone to the trouble to compare their tax re urns with the sworn statements mad to the comptroller general and to their stock holders, and I find that there is a very wide difference, and I think that the matter deserves being looked into, as I am confident that some of these institutions are liable for a great deal more tax than they are now paying.

"I am aware of the fact that some of these company's claim that for some reason they are exempt from the tax, but I do not know that their reasons are good and I think that the county's interest should be looked after by someone, and if they are liable for the tax they should be made to pay, and if they are not liable the matter should be definitely settled so that it will in the future be understood peyond any doubt."

"What corporation do you refer to?" inquired Commissioner Spalding.
"One of them to the Atlanta Home Insurance Company, who make a state-ment to the comptroller general placing their assets at $759,822.04, while their return for taxation is only $28,000. Now. I am informed that this matter was brought up once before and that the attorney general, Mr. Clifford Anderson, gave an opinion that they were exempt on a part of their assets, but that they were not exempt on the whole of it, and I am inormed that there is some doubt as to whether or not this opinion would now hold, as it has been several years since it was given.

"I have taken four of the largest companies as an example and find that the National Railway Building and Loan As-National Railway Building and Loan Association have assets amounting to $269,-958.28, while their tax return shows only $1,075.

"The Atlanta Banking Company has assets amounting to $270,000, and give in only $63,000 for taxation.

"The Georgia Loan, Savings and Banking Company have $200,000 and give in only $12,000. You will observe that the total differences between the actual assets and the amount returned for taxation by the four companies named is $1,385,750.32, upon which the tax for 1895 would have amounted to over $15,000, which is quite a large sum for the county to be deprived of, provided she is entitled to it, so I would like to have a resolution passed referring this entire matter to the finance committee with the county attorney, so that the matter may be taken up, and if these companies wish to be heard upon the matter they can have the opportunity and the question can be settled as to the liability for the tax.

Means Much to the County.

Means Much to the County. "I do not know anything about the facts in this case," said Chairman Collier, "but I do not think that we should make a pountain out of a mole hill or stir up a sensation, unless there is some, just cause. It does seem that if these people have not been revisited to the country. have not been paying taxes there must be some good reason for it, and I do not believe in bringing these matters up without giving them an opportunity to be without giving them an opportunity to be heard from."

"I do not know what the chairman refers to," said Mr. Adair, "when he mentions mountains and mole hills, nor do I care, but I do know that it is apparent, that the county is losing a very great deal of money, and I have merely asked that this matter be referred to the proper committee so that these people may have an opportunity to be heard.

"I do not wish to do anybody an injustice, and I know that they are home institutions and should be fostered and encouraged, but at the same time I believe in an equalization of taxation, and I do not think that it is fair to exempt any one from taxation on their personal property and throw the entire burden on the real extate owners of the county, which seems at present to be the tendency. I am perfectly familiar with the old argument that Fulton county pays one-eighth of the state tax, and I am not quite sure but what Atlanta is worth one-eighth of the state. I am also familiar with some of the reasons which these companies claim will exempt them from the tax, but I think that the matter should be taken up properly and legally decided, and I cannot see how the chairman or any one can object to such a course."

Mr. Spalding then seconded the resolution offered by Mr. Adair and the matter went to the finance committee and county attorney for investigation. Mr. Adair stated after the meeting had adjourned that, from the investigation made by him, the county is probably being deprived of at least $25,000 annually and that if this tax was paid into the treasury the rate of taxation would be correspondingly reduced.

ATLANTA HOME'S ANSWER

To the Statement of Mr. Adair of the County Commission.

County Commission.

Editor Constitution: We are informed that at a meeting of the county commissioners held today Mr. Forrest Adair, a member of the board, made reference to ceratin corporations in the city that had not paid the amount of taxes which they are required by law to pay, and among the corporations named he mentions the Adanta Home Insurance Company, stating that while it returned to the comptroller general assets amounting to $759,822.04 it only pays taxes on $28,000.

Whether Mr. Adair's reference to the Atlanta Home Company was due to ignorance of the facts and the law, or whether it was due to an intention to continue a warfare which he seems to have been conducting against this company since his election as county commissioner, I am not prepared to say, but certainly his statement is a gross injustice to the company, since prepared to say, but certainly his statement is a gross injustice to the company, since the company has always paid every dollar of taxes for which it is liable and which can be justly claimed against it. In order that no one may be misled by the statements of Commissioner Adair I will state that it seems to be the policy of Georgia as well as most of the states in the union, if not all, to tax insurance companies on the amount of business done by them in the state in preference to taxing them upon the capital, which is regarded under the law a trust fund pledged for the security of policy holders, and which must be invested under certain rules which the law lays down.

The reason for taxing all fire insurance The reason for taxing all fire insurance companies on premiums is obvious. When it is considered that a large bulk of the premiums paid by Georgia citizens are paid to companies located in other states and in foreign countries, and it being impossible to reach the capital of these companies for taxation, it will be seen that the only practicable method for taxing them is to tax the amount of business done in each state and territory. The law does not allow a discrimination to be made between companies, and hence, the policy of the state being to put all companies on the same footing, requires them to pay on the amount of business done. Applying this rule to business done in Georgia the state receives between $10,000 and $15,000 more annually from fire insurance companies than it would receive if the plan of taxing capital instead of premiums had been adopted. The effect of the present method of taxation, which not only applies to Georgia, but to New York and Massachusetts, is to encourage the building of home companies and the saving of a large premium to the people of the state. The effect of a change of the plan, as Mr. Adair seems to think he has a right to demand, would be to stifle every local company in the state and to force the business into foreign institutions. rign institutions.

The Atlanta Home Insurance Company

The Atlanta Home Insurance Company is owned almost entirely by Georgia citizens, 134 of them residing in the city of Atlanta, eighty-three in the state outside of Atlanta, and only twelve outside the state. These people have invested their money in a laudable enterprise with a view to saving some of the insurance premiums in the state.

The company has done and is conducting a profitable and laudable business. It complies with every requirement of the law, being taxed as other companies are taxed; it pays taxes in New York, Illinois and all the other states in which it does business, and in return all the companies doing business in Georgia must pay a like tax.

The matter referred to by Mr. Adair has been long since ruled upon by the attorney general of the state, and I am informed that the computoller general has communicated to the company officials that the com-

been long since ruled upon by the attorney general of the state, and I am informed that the comptroller general has communicated to the county officials that the company pays all taxes which are required of it in this county. I submit, therefore, that it is hardly fair to many of the citicens, of Atlanta who own stock in the Atlanta Home Insurance Company that Mr. Adair should prifer such charges without giving the compiny notice of his intention when he, as a sworn official of this county, owes it as much to this company and its stockholders as so other citizens that he should be just and impartial. When Mr. Adair was elected a commissioner the Atlanta Home Insurance Company was carrying a large proportion of the insurance on the buildings owned by the county. The commissioners for years have recognized the company's rights to have preference at this insurance. From time to time these policies have been taken from this company and placed, we understand, through Mr. Adair's influence, or at least with his approval, with agents in the city representing outside companies chiefly. This insurance was on the courthouse and furniture, the county prison, almshouse and the asylum, the premiums on which amounted to about $900 during the past twelve months, a large amount on which amounted to about $900 durin, the past twelve months, a large amoun of which, if not all, has gone to compenies of other states. HOWARDAND LAWSON

The Joint Debate Between the Two at Washington Yesterday.

A LARGE CROWD HEARS THEM

Howard Downs Lawson in Fine Shape on Some Congressional Utterances and Carried the Day.

Washington, Ga., May 6 .- (Special.)-It has been known and published for some time that Judge Lawson and Hon. W. M. Howard would have a joint debate here

By 9 o'clock people could be seen pouring in town from every section of the county and when the hour for speaking arrived no less than 400 or 500 people were packed and jammed in the courthouse and crowded around the doors and windows, im patient for the speaking to begin.

According to terms of agreement be tween the two candidates, Mr. Howard was to commence at 11 o'clock and speak for one hour and ten minutes. Judge Lawson to follow with a speech of one hour and thirty minutes, and Mr. Howard to close the debate in a speech of twenty

Mr. Howard Begins. Mr. Howard began promptly at 11 o'clock. He was greeted with a deafening cheer, and for one hour and ten minutes held his audience spellbound, giving to them a compact, logical and exhaustive view of the financial question, dealing in nothing but facts and arguments based on history and statistics. He stated that he could make nothing stronger than facts, and he poured them. Although the friends of Judge Lawson had repeatedly made the charge that there was no argument to Howard's side of the question, and that his only resource was to ridicule his opponent's views with out answering his arguments, the only humor he indulged in was to occasionally ridicule his opponent's many and varied entering public life, much to the amusement of his audience. His speech was ap-Judge Lawson's Speech.

Judge Lawson opened the debate by saying that the money question was not a political one, but an economic question that he was once a free coinage man; had written, spoken and voted for silver at 16 to 1, but that he was not then informed. Had since studied the question, and his mind had changed.

"Now, I believe that the free coinage of silver would be disastrous to every interest of the country." That he once thought like Mr. Howard, but did not think like he does now. Gold standard men are the only true bimetallists. Silver and gold must be coined by their commercial and not by their unit ratio. We were practically on the gold standard prior to 1873. The effect of prior legislation was to demonetize silver and produce a gold standard.

He said that the history of all countries went to show that it was impossible to maintain a fixed ratio between gold and silver. He made no new arguments, but went over the same line as in all of his previous speeches. He received a patient and respectful hearing, although the crowd was overwhelmingly for Howard.

Howard Shows Up Lawson.

When Mr. Howard arose to make his expression on his face which forewarned was going to receive. He attacked Judge Lawson about his statement in one of his speeches in congress in which he said all men advocating the free coinage of silver were demagogues. Mr. Howard asked him if he was a demagogue, when he laid aside the practice of law and joined the Farmers' Alliance, subscribing to their princi- | practically a walkover in this end of the ples and standing on their platform which declared for free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1, both at Ocala and St. Louis. He also attacked Judge Lawson's statement that the people were as prosperous as they

Mr. Howard proved the fallacy of it by stating the fact that in 1873 cotton was worth 16 to 17 cents and from that time had steadily gone down to 7 and 8 cents a pound. Wheat in 1873 was worth $1.65 bushel, and had steadily gone down per busnel, and had steadil, goldents per bushel and every other commodity had declined in like proportion. He confronted him with the fact that from 1792 to 1873 gold and silver were yoked together each mutually helping to carry our financial burden, but in 1873 gold turned the yoke on silver and the price of commodities had been falling steadily since that time. He read from Judge Lawson's letter in which he said he would not be a candidate for congress if the national platform at Chicago declared for free coinage, and he also read from Judge Lawson's second letter in which he announced that he would again be a candidate after he had been to Washington city.

Mr. Howard declared in conclusion that if he was so fortunate as to be selected as the next representative from the eighth congressional district he would be true to all the trusts imposed in him and stand firm for the free coinage of sifver and more for the interests of his con

Macon, Ga., May 6,-(Special.)-In Bibl superior court today Ebb Singleton was acquitted of the charge of the murde of Jim Franklin. The jury was out but a short while. The defense claimed that Singleton and Franklin were tusseling in fun over the possession of a pistol, when the weapon fired accidentally, and Frank lin was fatally shot. The jury took this view of it, and acquitted Singleton. He was ably defended by Colonel John R.

When this is done, the woman will be remanded to the custody of the state authorities. It is not known how long it will be before Judge Speer will pass such an order. He is now in New Orleans, where he will be for some time. As soon as Mrs. Nobles is back in the custody of the state authorities her attorneys will probably petition the ordinary of Twiggs county to issue a writ of lunacy on which she may be tried. This will then open up channels of appeals in both the state and the United States courts, and the case may again reach the United States supreme court. The probability is that Mrs. Nobles has yet a long while to live.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Mrs. Julia Brand. Lawrenceville, Ga., May 6.—(Special.)—The death of Mrs. Julia Brand has caused much sorrow here. She had been ill for several weeks, and at the time when loving friends and relatives thought they saw signs of hope and recovery, she suddenly became worse, and died surrounded by husband, sons and daughters, immediate relatives and friends. The remains were carried from this place to Old Haines Creek church yard, ten miles away, followed by a long proces-sion of friends and relatives early Monday morning. The funeral services were con-ducted by Rev. J. E. England in the large ducted by Rev. J. E. England in the large church at Haines Creek, in the presence of $00 friends and relatives from Walton and Gwinnett counties. The remains of the beloved wife and mother were placed at the head of the long row of headstones that mark the resting place of departed sons and daughters, nine in all. About one mile from the old family burying ground a considerable distance from the main road, stands in quaint grandeur the teautiful, typical old southern homestead, where lived Levi M. Cooper, the father of Mrs. Brand, and the place where she was reared and married. When the long funeral cortege reached the old homeplace, it was the tender thought of the broken-hearted husband that directed it, and the scene was a most beautiful and pathetic one, as the long procession with solemn tread, trailed its slow lengths through the long, quiet grove of the old homestead beneath the solemn oaks, around which she had played in childhood.

Mrs. Brand was much beloved in whatchurch at Haines Creek, in the presenc

Mrs. Brand was much beloved in whatever community she has lived. She was sixty years old, and the mother of 'hirteen children, only four of whom survive her—Hon. C. H. Brand and L. M. Brand, for many years a citizen of Walton county, but now one of Gwinnett's most highly respected and wealthy residents.

Mrs. Brand was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church.

Colonel John R. Cooper, of Macon; C. J., W. O. and J. C. Cooper, of Lawrence-ville, are nephews of Mrs. Brand, and her bothers, J. W., C. W. J. N. and W. N. Cooper, are the most highly respected and prosperous farmers of this county.

The Cooper family is a very large one, and there are hosts of relatives and friends in stinion and Gwinnett countles who mour, and the sad bereavement. Mrs. Brand was much beloved in what-

The Defendants in Their Answer Claim That the Bank President Is To Blame in the Matter.

Columbus, Ga., May 6.-(Special.)-The Chattahoochee National bank, now de unct, recently filed through its receiver. Mr. J. F. Flournoy, suits against Messrs. W. H. Tuggle, R. S. Grier and J. C. Molder, of this city, aggregating $20,000. To answer the defendants have filed with the clerk of the federal court statements that are quite sensational in their nature and which have provoked considerable

The cases will be tried at the next term of the court, very probably, and their out come will be awaited with great interest The suits filed against Messrs. Tuggle Molder and Grier are for $10,000, $5,000 and $5,000, respectively, for the payment of alleged notes now past due. The defendants n their answer, admit the signing of the notes, but claim that they did so purely to accommodate President H. H. Epping, of the bank, who asked them to sign them, assuring them that the bank would not hold them liable thereon.

Mr. Molder's Answer. Mr. Molder's answer states he was approached by Mr. H. H. Epping, who stated the Chattahoochee National bank had given credit to the Chattahoochee Brewing said bank in a larger sum than was al lowed by the banking law, and that for the accommodation of the bank he desired the defendant to sign a note for $5,000; that said bank would not hold him liable thereon, that as evidence of the good intention of the bank in the matter he would place as collateral $5,000 on the first mortgage bonds of the brewery.

What Mr. Tuggle Says. Mr. Tuggle is being sued on an accept-ance of a draft drawn in favor of the Alabama, Connellsville Coal and Coke Company for $10,000. Mr. Tuggle states in his answer that Mr. Epping requested him to sign the paper, and that he (Tuggle) asked why he did not obtain the signature of some one in the bank. Mr. Epping said that the national banking laws prohibited it and that it was only a matter of forman accommodation only—and that there would be no hereafter about the transaction, and that he would in nowise be expected to pay the same. That it was necessary for such a paper to be made to be able to get any money.

Mr. Tuggle alleges that the paper was given without benefit or consideration; that it was fraudulently obtained and was for the purpose of evading laws, and that he had never been called upon to pay the same until the bank went into liquidation.

President Epping was seen today, but refused to give out any statement in the matter. Company for $10,000, Mr. Tuggle states in

LITHIA SPRINGS BARBECUE A BIG SUCCESS

Committee Report on President Cole's Address Is Likely To Arouse a Lively Debate Today.

The second day's session of the American Medical Association's convention was even livelier than the first and before the day's work ended a red-hot fight was precipitated on the question of retaining Dr. W. D. Atkinson in the position of permanent the association for thirty-four years For several years past an element in the association has tried to depose the secretary, always without success. This year the effort is being made with redoubled energy and those who are leading the attack claim that their chances of ousting Dr. Atkinson are better than they ever were before.

The attack on the venerable secretary was begun by Dr. I. N. Love, of St. Louis, at the morning session in the Grand opera house yesterday.

President Beverly Cole was in the chair and he had all he could attend to to keep the convention from running wild when the fight was at its height.

It was frequently necessary for the presi dent to resort to methods that were almost Reed-like. So emphatic were his rulings on occasions that someone in the audience

THE LONG AND THE SHORT OF IT. announced that the doctors had a second Tom Reed to govern their deliberations. "My name is not Reed," said President Cole, "but you doctors sometimes need a czar to preside at this table in order to maintain order. I am willing to grant courtesies as long as such tactics can be properly enforced, but when it become necessary to be stringent and to conourselves strictly to parliamentary usag 's I am prepared to do it." Evidently the president felt the time come yesterday for he wielded his gavel with more determination than usual. and he held the fighting delegates in perfeet control. After the convention Dr Cole was congratulated on all sides for the splendid way in which he managed a body of warring delegates who were inclined to be belligerent on a l'occasions.

The First Shot Fired. In beginning his attack on the secretary, Dr. Love declared that he felt kindly to-Dr. Love declared that he felt kindly to-ward Dr. Atkinson and had nothing but high regardator the dector as a man, but he said le felt it his duty to urge the elec-invitation was read from the Louisiana secretary. This, he said, he did with great regret, for he would like to see Dr. At-kinson accorded every honor. He insisted that while it was an unpleasant duty to perform that it was necessary for the interest of the association that a younger, more active and vigorous man than Dr. Atkinson should be selected.

"We need an up to date secretary," said Dr. Love; "a man who is young and active ad nean give quickly to the presiding officer the name of any member of this body the instant he rises from his seat to address the chair. We need a man who can make a stenographic report of the convention proceedings and who is thoroughly up to date.

Dr. Love was treading on dangerous grounds, for he was opening an old wound.
The same battle had been fought over before and every time it had engendered hard feelings and factional strife. It was clear to an observer that there were many in the big convention who were glad to hear Dr. Love's remarks, and that there was as many, if not more, who wanted him to stop. Dr. Love appreciated his

An Unpleasant Task.

"I know that there are many here who will criticise me for bringing up this pain-ful subject. I assure you that I do it with the greatest regret. It is from no personal motives, but because I think the good of the association demands it. It is a dis-agreeable task, but I have been assigned to do it by a great many members of the organization and I feel that I must do it, however unpleasant it may be for me.
"No one likes more than I to avoid an unpleasant task of any kind and especially do I regret this, but when a man insists on retaining his position when every member of the nominating committee has voted for his successor, then I say it becomes necessary for us to bring the matter before the convention. It is not in the best taste, o say the least, for Dr. Atkinson to retain "My position is that Dr. Atkinson has not attended to his duties efficiently and in support of that position I desire to call attention to the fact that the secretary did not include in the minutes of the last an-nual convention, held in Baltimore, a resolution that was offered providing for a change in the constitution so that a secretary can be elected every year at the easure of the association

Dr. Ellis Called Upon. "I call upon Dr. Burke Eilis to state what occurred at the last day's session of the last convention, when the resolution providing for the election of a new secre-tary by the convention every year was

Dr. Ellis rose from his seat and was about to explain, when Pressuent Cole called him to order on technical grounds and forbade him from speaking at that time.
Then Dr. Love called upon Dr. Daniel

McLean, who was president of the associ tion last year, to state what occurred at the Baltimore convention. Dr. McLean, who was on the stage, advanced to the footlights and in a very humorous talk declined to act as arbiter in a discussion between doctors. He said that he believed between doctors. He said that he believed the convention was intelligent enough to sit for itself without advice from him and that there were enough delegates pres-ent who attended the last convention to make a fair decision concerning the merits of the case. He washed his hands of the whole matter, and stirred up the risibilitie of the large audience.

Dr. Atkinson Explains.

Dr. Atkinson explained his connection with the last convention, and said that if any resolutions had been left out it was because they had been presented too late for publication. He said that the resolu-tion over which there was so much agita-tion had been sent to him in August, though the convention was held in May, and he said that he was not at all responsible for the non-appearance of the resolution in the regularly published minutes. Dr. Love and Dr. Ellis presented a story of how the resolution had been presented on the last day of the convention, which led President Cole to remark that a question of fact and veracity was in dispute. A Motion To Table.

At this juncture Dr. Isaac N. Quinby, of New Jersey, moved that the whole matter be laid upon the table for one year, The motion of Dr. Quinby brought forth cheers from one portion of the audience. The president called for a standing vote, which was finally counted in some confu-sion, resulting in the passage of Dr. Quin-by's motion to table by a vote of 90 to 67.

Atkinson Gets First Blood. This gave first blood to Secretary Atkinson, but the other side did not give up the argument. Dr. Ellis said that the omission of the resolution providing for yearly elections of the secretary was not the only offense of Secretary Atkinson, but that he. Ellis, had offered a resolution inviting certain members of the profession to become members of the association, and he said that the resolution had never been published in the minutes. This called for more explanations and further arguments, which attend the barbecue, and devoted the evenoccupied the attention of the convention until the hour of adjournment arrived. Dr. Love, of Missouri, was so disgusted at the vote which caused the postpone-ment of the fight on the secretary for an-other year that he made a motion suggest-ing that Dr. Atkinson's term be for life, and that the convention be forbidden to elect a new secretary on any occasion.

This called forth cries of dissent.

Dr. Osler's Splendid Paper. If the fight over Secretary Atkinson had not been precipitated the session yesterday would have been one of great interest if only the paper of Professor William Osler, of Johns Aopkins university, had been pre-of Johns Aopkins university, had been presented. This in itself was enough to make the occasion memorable

Dr. Osler is professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins and his interesting paper was on the subject, "The Study of the Fevers of the South."

Dr. Osler dealt with fevers of all kinds the depriced way, but in an unusually in a technical way, but in an unusually lucid manner.

He showed that he had given the matter the profoundest study and was thoroughly well informed on the question. He said that fever was the greatest of the three great enemies of humanity, the other two being famine and war.

The paper was applauded frequently and when Dr. Osler finished he was the recipient of the heartiest congratulations.

mittee promises to be a very interesting one and may be presented at today's sesof attacking some of the modern evils to be found in the medical profession, and he-rapped some of the customs with gloves

His severe denunciation of the way which some members of the medical pro-fession took advantage of rushing into print with new discoveries for advertising purposes will probably call for some action at the hands of the convention and it is probable that the president's position will be indersed.

An Interesting Report Expected. The report of this committee is apt to deal also with the question of appendicitis and an opinion may be advanced as to the advisability of the use of the knife on every occasion. Some are of the opinion that operations on the appendix are entirely too frequent.

DOCTORS FEAST AT A 'CUE. GIVEN AN OLD-FASHIONED GEOR-GIA SPREAD

At Lithia Springs-Two Thousand People Gathered Around the Tables Yesterday Afternoon. One of the biggest barbecues ever given on Georgia soil was that at Lithia Springs yesterday, when Mr. E. W. Marsh entertained the visiting doctors. Everything that goes to make the Georgia barbecue the greatest feast of epicurean taste was there. Chief Cook Ware had the meet prepared to the queen's taste. Lithia water flowed freely, and other beverages of a more exhilarating type abounded. By 12:30 o'clock the union depot was swarming with people. There were present doctors from all over the union, with their wives and daughters, the local fraternity in force, and Atlanta girls galore, who were out to make the occasion more charming, and to help make the barbecue a success by their beauty and their wit. The train was made up in two sections of about eight coaches each, and every coach was packed. Fully two thousand people went out from the city, and when the local contingent at Lithia, including the guests at the Sweetwater Park hotel, had swelled the crowd, twenty-five hundred people had assembled in the grove in which the 'cue was spread.

Everything work without a hitch, and when the trains returned to Atlanta late

The Scene at the 'Cue. The tables were spread in the beautiful grove around the famous sault spring, which, since the days when the Indian tribes resorted to it to drink its healing waters, has been famous all through this section.

The dummy train and private conveyances carried down immense crowds, and hundreds walked the short half-mile from the depot to the grove. The tables were covered with snowy duck, and the intoxi-cating aroma of the cooking viands, mingled with the sweet smell of the Georgia pines, quickened many a step, as the pedestrians drew near the grove. By 1 o'clock the meats were cooked to a turn, and the negro waiters quickly bore the steaming meats to the chopping table, where others, with broad axes in hand, soon chopped them into fragments and scraped them into the pans for distribu-

It was a new sight to most of the visitors, who had never before seen a Geor-gia 'cue in course of preparation, and the tors, who had never before seen a Georgia 'cue in course of preparation, and the way in which the viands disappeared was a compliment to Chief Cook Ware's skill. By the time that the big tin pan was beaten as a signal that dinner was ready, fully twenty-five hundred souis were waiting under the magnificent oaks. The whole grove was fragrant with the scent of the hawthorne buds and the wild honeysuckle, and the aroma of the steaming lambs, and shoats and Brunswick stew would have whetted the appetite of the most confirmed dyspeptic.

When the signal to fall to came there was a grand rush for the long tables. Everything was ready and busy waiters soon had every one supplied. There was lamb, beef, shoat and delightful stew, and no stint of everything. The Lithia water from the flowing spring near by was supposed to be the favorite beverage, but a score or more of icy cool kegs under the shadow of the huge boulders near the spring promised other things. For those for whom King Gambrinus had no charms there were numberless refreshing juleps, and the occasional report of a stopper indicated that even champagne was not lacking.

The feast was a delightful one and was indicated that even champagne was not lacking.

The feast was a delightful one and was enjoyed to the utmost. When every one had eaten to satiety the crowd dispersed to stroll through the grove or to walk back to the Sweetwater Park hotel.

Mr. E. W. Marsh, who was the host of the occasion, was present in person and saw to it that everything went off smoothly. It was a memorable barbecue, even in the native state of the 'cue, and has never had an equal, save perhaps in the famous Venable 'cue to the League of Press Clubs at Stone Mountain, several years ago.

By 6 o'clock every one was safely landed back in the city, thanks to the excellent service of the trains of the Southern, and a Jollier or better contented crowd never disembarked than that which came from the Lithia barbecue yesterday afternoon.

The discussions will be of unusual interest, as the question of the value of the Roentgen ray in surgery will be taken up and fully discussed.

A Department of Public Health.

Dr. Liston H. Montgomery, of Chicago read a very interesting paper yesterday on the establishment of a department of public health. This question has been be-fore the American Medical Association for some time, and it is their unanimous recommendation that such a department be established. Today's Mass Meeting.

morning at 11 o'clock there will be a mass meeting of citizens of Atlanta.

Every one who is interested in the city's welfare and who is anxious to promote the public good, is expected to be on hand.

In the call for this meeting the voice of Atlanta is heard and she calls upon all her citizens, without regard to politics or creed, to come together as in times past and to counsel with one another for the city's interests. There should be no indifference at this time. and those who attend this meeting should come with the measure of enthusiasm that is needed when public measures are to be discussed.

The city council adopted yesterday the report of the park purchasing committee to lease the exposition grounds for a period of five years at $4,000 a year and to purchase the buildings for the sum of $15,000. Half of this $15,000 is to be paid by the city and the other half is to be raised by popular subscription, $300,000, to belong to the city.

In regard to the rental of the grounds at $4,000 a year, it may be said that this a dollar, this being the fixed charges on

Those who labor under the false impression that a sale of the exposition buildings and a rental of the grounds is contemplated for the purpose of realizing a profit thereon, should disabuse their minds of this impression. Such illonly unworhty of those who entertain them, but do a great injustice to those public-spirited and patriotic citizens who have carried the burden of the ex position upon their shoulders and who have made a thousand sacrifices in pro-

The lease of the grounds and the pur chase of the buildings are to be contingent upon the raising of the required sum of money, only $7,500 of which is to be raised by popular subscription.

The Constitution is satisfied that the business men of Atlanta will not allow this opportunity to pass. When reduced to its last analysis it means that a public subscription of but $7,500 is required to secure for the city an exposition outfit which cost nearly $300,000, and which will be as admirably adapted prices have fallen 47 per cent since 1890, for exposition purposes five years from for exposition use. It will not be many years before Atlanta will want another exposition, and if the advertised trustees' sale of the buildings of the old exposition is allowed to take place, every building must be removed from the grounds by the 1st of July, and when Atlanta wants another exposition it will cost her $300,000 to get what is in her reach today for a mere trifle. A half dozen Atlanta firms could well | calamity afford to raise the subscription asked for to make binding the action of the council; but every business house in the city should take pride in making at least some contribution to this fund. The Constitution will do its part, as usual, and we believe the business men of the city will respond with one accord.

Today's chamber of commerce meeting should be a rousing one. It will require a few minutes' time, but Atlanta's public-spirited business men will be glad to give it. Very little money is needed, but what is must be raised quickly.

Let it be done at once, and let every body help a little, for it is all for the good and the greatness of Atlanta!

New York's Electrical Exposition. Never before in the world's history nas such a bewildering spectacle been presented to the human eye as the magnificent display of electrical devices which is now on exhibition in New York

This brilliant exposition of the progress which has been achieved in this department of scientific study, within the last fifteen or twenty years, not only shows the varied uses to which the electric spark has been converted but likewise, in a more important sense, it emphasizes the achievements of American genins.

Though America may not be able to cope successfully with European nations in all lines of legitimate competition, yet in the character of her inventions and especially in the multitude of wonders which she has wrought with the electric current, she is far in the lead of European nations and stands without a rival among the powers of the earth.

But these inventions, while belonging to America in the narrow and restricted sense of origin and birthright, belong to civilization in the priceless benefits which they confet upon the human race.

The value of this splendid aggregation of devices and experiments in New York city is estimated at something in the neighborhood of $750,000,000.

Less than fifteen years ago the telephone was comparatively a stranger. Today the human voice can be thrown across the continent and a man in New York can converse with a friend in Chicago, hearing not only every syllable addressed to him, but even recognizing the familiar accents of the speaker.

Every nation on the globe pays tribute to America in the constant use to which it has applied the invention of the telegraph. The importance of this invention, not only to commerce but to the deeper and more enduring brotherhood of man, cannot be fixed by computation.

In like manner the various other achievements of American genius. might be discussed but these citations are sufficient. According to official reports the United States last year had 802,651 miles of telegraph and 396,674 miles of telephone wire, aggregating over a million miles of wire, exclusive of that used for lighting and traction purposes.

Less than ten years ago the lighting of streets by means of electric burners was only an experiment upon which many looked with doubt and derision. And vet today there is scarcely a town of three thousand inhabitants in the United States which does not boast of its electrical illumination.

One feature of interest about the ex position in New York is the almost infinite variety of uses to which electricity can be put, aside from those which have already become familiar. These em brace not only the phonograph and the electric light, together with various kindred inventions, but likewise include heating, cooking and other domestic op erations. The application of the current to these ends has not been fully per fected, but this is only a matter of de tail, since the possibilities of the current in this direction have been clearly demonstrated. There can be no denial of the fact that electricity is the power of the The days of steam are numbered and its glories will soon be for gotten. Though marvelous beyond expression have been the achievements already produced by this magic force, the coming century is crowded with even grander and more bewildering revelations; and while the present century is fairly radiant with the marvels of the electric spark the most enduring triumphs of this mysterious power have been reserved for its successor.

Calamity Howlers.

In 1893, when the gold contractionists, backed by all the power and influence of the administration, were endeavoring to bring about the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law, every prediction of the democrats as to the evils that would result from that infamous programme was met by the cuckoo organs and tools of the money power with the cry of "calamity howlers." "Hear the calamity howlers" they cried. "They are standa popular subscription. The city council ing in the way of progress in this age of optimism. This is no time for dire-

They have no remedy themselves except for the contraction of the currency and they cry out that calamity will follow any attempt to provide a proper

These same cuckoos vowed most solemnly in 1893 that as soon as the purchasing clause of the Sherman act could be repealed prosperity would begin to smile peal was pending, informed his audience that if they would just trust to Mr. Cleveland for six months they would be applauding a policy that they were then condemning. This meant, of course, that prosperity would begin to dawn on the people during that period. Up to this time, however, the night of doubt and depression has been grow ing darker and darker.

Sad News for the British

The British subject who writes finan cial editorials for The Boston Herald has the courage of his opinions. For instance, he knows perfectly well that if the gold standard is to be maintained in all its beauty and purity, further contraction of the currency is absolutely necessary.

But, instead of aiding in this contraction, the banks are using the new bonds as a basis for additional circulation, and are now engaged in "inflating" the currency. The Herald's imported financier declares.

Naturally, the naughty banks fall under his displeasure, and he berates them soundly in his Monday's issue. He de clares that the banks are responsible for a total "inflation" of $12,413,593 since February 1st. "Thus," cries this sturdy advocate of the British gold standard, "during the past three months the national banks have been inflating the currency at the rate of $49,654,368 per annum." "They are beating the Sherman act by $12.934.372. As disturbers of the currency, they are one-third worse than that pernicious law."

Oh, the pernicious banks with their dangerous inflation! Did anybody ever bear the like? And isn't it a horrible story to send back to "merry hold Hingland," how the perhicious banks are threatening the perpetuity of the Hinglish gold standard in this part of her majesty's bankers' possessions?

An Evasive Answer.

Not long ago-on the 25th of April, in fact—a citizen of Atlanta, interested in the financial question, as, indeed, all citizens must be, wrote to the editor of The New York Journal of Commerce for certain information.

"I am informed." he wrote, "that our annual interest debt to Europe is estimated at $150,000,000, payable in gold, and that our total product of gold is less than $40,000,000. How can we pay our debts and have any gold left for local currency or redemption purposes?"

As this question is, perhaps, too delicate to be handled in print in New York ity, the editor of The Journal of Comnerce took his pen in hand and wrote letter in reply. In this letter he says hat "the estimate of $150,000,000 for interest on our foreign obligations is greatly exaggerated." But he adds that the face value of our obligations held abroad is estimated by "those most closely connected with that branch of our foreign financial relations" at between 1,500 and 2,000 millions. The editor adds:

Many of the securities pay no interest You can form your own estimate of what to 5 per cent. In my judgment, $90,000,000 would be an extravagant allowance, but that would reduce your estimate of our The remainder ($60,000,000) is more than set off by our average excess of exports of merchandise over the like kind of imports. So far from this interest indebtedness having a tendency to drain us of our stocks of gold, the fact is, that until the treasury derangements of the last three or four years, caused by the apprehension of free silver, we have on the average imported more gold than we have exported, causing a steady increase in our national stock of the yellow metal.

Your estimate of $40,000,000 as the home roduct of gold, is nearly $15,000,000 too low The mint estimates the product for the cur-rent year at $55,000,000; that of last year for the whole country (not for a part of it, as given in Valentine's estimate) was $52,

It will be observed that the able editor attributes the gold drain not to the fact that we are obliged to ship it abroad to pay interest on our greatly increased foreign debt but to the "apprehension of free silver." Now, this hole into which the editor runs is so uncomfortably large that he exposes his rear to aftack. When, during the past three or four years, has there been any "apprenension of free silver?" Can anybody mention a date since 1890 that the whole financial world, bankers, bondholders, apitalists and investors, did not know that free coinage legislation was an impossibility under Harrison and equally an impossibility under Cleveland?

Our gold never did begin to go out, xcept in response to the natural demands of trade, until the fall of prices in 1893. We had legislated to cut down the foreign prices of our cotton, wheat and other exports 50 per cent, and this operation cut off the movement of gold in this direction and turned it the other way. With the balance of trade in our favor the balance of debt is against us. The gold men predicted a drain of gold when the Bland-Allison act became law. But what was the result? Under the additions to the currency made by that act, prices rose 12 per cent between 1878 and 1890, and Europe was compelled to send its gold here to pay for our exports. Why? Because we got better prices for our exports. No matter which way this question is turned the simplicity of it crops out at last. At bottom it is a question of good and bad prices-between honest prices and dishonest prices. From January, 1891, to January, 1896. we have shipped out of the country not only the amount of the whole of our own product of gold, but $250,000,000 pesides, all because the gold standardists are upholding a policy that has lost o the creator of wealth in this country 50 per cent of the value of his products. Inder the operations of the Bland-Allison law, small as were the annual additions to our currency, we imported more gold than at any other period since the war. It was in fact, due to the Bland-Allisoning that the panic of 1880, worth a moment's consideration at the I the result of the resumption act, was not worse. And it was this law that made resumption possible, as John Sherman admitted.

The theory of the gold dollar men is that the more money will buy the sound on us. Secretary Smith, in a speech er it is-that the more money the prodmade in Athens while unconditional re- ucts of labor will buy the unsounder the money is. We had what they now call the "dishonest" dollar and the "unsound" currency when wheat was a dollar a bushel and cotton from 12 to 15 cents a pound. In fact, we had then what the gold contractionists now call a "fifty-cent dollar." Did it hurt anybody? Did it embarrass business men? Did it embarrass farmers when they received twice as much-nearly three times as much-for their wheat and cotton as they now receive? If it did, we never heard of it.

It must be borne in mind that this con traction has been going on ever since the war. When peace came, the country had about $60 per capita in circulation. The money power at once began to get in its work, and today we have hardly $10 per capita in actual circulation. The treasury estimate, which puts the amount at $21 per capita, counts all the money that is not in the treasury and takes no account of the reserve in the banks and the congestion of money in the financial centers.

The upshot of the whole business is that we are compelled to pay our foreign debts in gold because we have cut in half the prices of our products. The reply of the editor of The New York Journal of Commerce to the letter of its Atlanta correspondent is an evasion, pure and simple.

A Deserving Measure.

It is to be regretted that the report of the Methodist Publishing House bill, filed vesterday in the senate at Washington, serves to confirm the belief that there will be opposition to the measure. Senator Pasco has been in charge of the bill, as a member of the senate claims committee, and now that the report has been delayed until the close of the session, it is probable that no action will be taken at this session of congress, and if the bill goes through at all it will probably not be until next winter.

The measure has been favorably reported by the house committee at three different sessions of congress and at the request of Senator Bate, of Tennessee, was placed in the hands of Senator Pasco to be submitted to the higher branch of the legislature.

This bill provides for the restitution of a sum of money equivalent to the value of property belonging to the Methodist Publishing House at Nashville, Tenn., which was destroyed by General Sher man in 1864.

In view of the fact that the measure has been pending in the senate for quite a number of years it is earnestly hoped that it will soon be disposed of according to its merits.

Mr. Dimmock Favors It. Mr. Diminock opposed this solution of the matter. The committee had investigated the matter thoroughly in its every phase.

"The buildings are advertised for sale tomorrow at 3 o'clock," said he, "and the sale cannot be postponed. The company has gone to very great expense in advertising the sale. The bondl.olders have been very magnanimous in agreeing to the proposition made in the report. It certainly is not the best thing that could be done for them, as I feel sure that the buildings would bring more at public out-cry than the city is asked to pay for them." He said that Mr. Inman was pres-

Mr. S. M. Inman made a very clear and forcible statement of the entire matter from his standpoint. He gave the history of the negotiations between himself, the Piedmont Park Company and the special committee of council. He said that he had despaired of council taking any action whatsoever in the matter until two days ago, when Mr. Hirsch called at his office and the solution to the matter as proposed in the special committee's report was suggested. Mr. Dimmock was called in and the report was agreed to. So far as his personal interest went, he was indifferent to the city's taking the buildings, but from the standpoint of publie good he thought the city could not do a better thing. After this brief preface he proceeded to read what he had to say that there might be no misunderstanding.

Mr. Inman said:
"The Honorable Mayor and Council, At-lanta, Ga.—Gentemen: The price at which the trustees have onered the buildings of orick foundations. The buildings cost between $250,000 and $300,000, and are in a nile state of preservation. The foundations are unusually good for such buildings and the costs, as a rule, are in good repair. Very little glass is broken, and were an exposition to be held tomorrow there would be scarcely any repairing necessary to put the buildings in shape.

"As far as my personal interest is concerned, I am indifferent as to whether you buy these buildings or not. As a tax payer and one interested in the prosperity and development of Atlanta, I think it is a very important measure for the city. The idea of the bond holders at first was that the city ought to pay $30,000 for these buildings, but we have determined to put the price at what we think the buildings could be wrecked and sold for in the shape could be wrecked and sold for in the shape of old material.

"As near as we can estimate, there are about 4,500,000 feet of good seasoned lumber in these buildings. Our estimate of the wrecking value of these buildings is as follows:

"Four million and a half feet of lumber, less 1,000,000 feet destroyed in wrecking, leaves 3,500,000 feet, which at one-third the price of good seasoned lumber of this class would be about as follows:

3,500,000 feet lumber at $4, would be. $14,000 1,000,000 brick at $3 would be. 3,000 Glass, sash, doors, hardware, rods, botts, mantels and other miscella-,000,000 feet destroyed lumber as fire

Mr. Day again put in a word of opposi-tion. "The people have spent too much money on this park altogether," said he.

settled here and row and I am ready to vote on it. I don't think this proposition is right and I am going to vote against

Mr. Hubert Culberson made one of the strongest speeches of the session against the lease. He said the city did not need it for a park, and that the city had already done enough for the enterprise.

Mr. Dimmock supported the report in a forcible and logical talk of five minutes. He said every man and woman and child in Atlant's had been benefited by the exposition. Its benefits had been feit in every phase of Atlant's high and he believed. phase of Atlanta's life and he believe that it was the general hope and intentio to hold another exposition in a few years

If this were true the city would have the buildings on hand. He regarded it as a fine investment for the city.

"Where do we get the money for this?" asked Mr. Chiberson.

"We will get the money; I will guarantee that" said Mr. Dimmerk. "The interest that," said Mr. Dimmock. "The interest on the bonds is due in December and can be carried over until January."

Mr. Bell Asks Questions. Mr. Bell suggested the possibility of the next council's failure to coincide in the action of the present body in the matter and asked if it would not be an expensive investment for a year in that event. Mr. Dimmock replied by saying that he had enough confidence in the patriotism and good sense of the people to believe that such an action was impossible. He referred to the question of north side and south side. This question, he said, had been ingeniously injected into the dis-cussion. It was not a question of north side or south side, but a question in which the people of every section of the city were interested equally.

Councilman Maddox made a spirited argument in favor of the report. He said he had heard Mr. Day make many speeches, out he had never known him to see signally fail to meet the issue. He so signally fail to meet the issue. thought that Mr. Day had prepared a speech some time ago to deliver on the park purchase and took the first opportunity he could get to fire it off. He did not think the question of the expenditure of money should enter into the considera-tion of the matter at all. The money that Atlanta had spent in expositions had been money wisely invested. "What would At-lanta be without her expositions?" he asked. He made a stirring plea for the pres ervation of the buildings as monuments to Atlanta's pluck and enterprise.

Mr. Day Submits a Substitute. At this point Councilman Day submitted a substitute for the committee's report, providing for the submission of the question to a vote of the people on June 6th

He thought it should take this course. The people should settle it. Councilman Miller said he favored the settlement of the matter by the people if the election could be held before 3 o'clock this afternoon, but the matter was one that had to be settled at once. The suggestion of Mr. Day was utterly impractica-ble and out of the question if the preservation of the buildings by the city was to be considered at all.

Alderman Woodward spoke strongly for the proposition. He said the city should own the exposition grounds. The purchase should have been made two years ago. The question reminded him of a crab; it was now right where it was two years ago. According to his friend Day whe city could have more than paid for it with the money that it has expended if the purchase had been made two years ago.

Two Votes Taken. A vote was then had on Mr. Day's substitute, resulting as follows:
Yeas—Bell, Day, Hutchinson, Thomas—4.

NEW DETECTIVE DEPARTMENT

The Force Is Getting Down To Work and Will Soon Be Well Organized. The new detective department is not as yet thoroughly organized, but present prospects indicate one of the best forces the city has ever had. Chief Slaughter has taken charge of his men and they are already doing some effective work.

Chief Connolly was charged with the duty of appointing the men and most of the old officers have been retained. Bankston and Wilson, who were only on the force temporarily, and who made good officers, have been returned to their old beats as patrolmen, and Wooten and Barrett have been appointed to take their

DIAZ RETURNS TO

Back Again on Free Soil Safe from

Says the General's Troops Are Butch ering Innocent Non-Combatants.

TELLS OF WEYLER'S DEEDS

HE BELIEVES THE ISLAND WILL BE FREE The Patriots Will Not Accept Any

Compromise-Too Late for Home Rule. Dr. Alberto Jose Diaz, the Baptist mis sionary recently released from a Spanish prison, arrived in Atlanta yesterday morning. He came here from Tampa, where he had been for several days locating his family. Dr. Diaz tells an interesting and thrilling story of life in Cuba at present. Neither life nor property is safe, he says. He was arrested himself without any lawful warrant or any cause being assigned; was thrown into arison and kept there until released through the intervention o this country. The missionary is a citizen of the United States. He is a native of Cuba, but long ago he saw the advantage of a citizenship protected by the United States flag, and he took the oath of al-able. Once before he was hard pressed by the Spanish, and had to throw himself into the sea to escape with his life. This time he was notified that he must leave Havana within a few hours after his release from prison.

"I had the property of the home mission board to look after," he said yesterday, and I told them that I would require four days. The Spanish knew that the people of the United States were watching my case, and I was not again mo-lested."

As a member of the White Cross Society, Dr. Diaz was at first entitled to go into the interior and to care for the wounded of the insurgents; but Weyler with-drew the permission to go into the Cuban

"I often received warnings to leave the island. A friend would come to me and say that I was in danger. But I knew that the messages were inspired by the Span-ish, and paid no attention to them. Then Culberson-5.

Mayor Pro Tem. Hirsch declared the reThey put two dynamite bombs in my But that did not deter us from continuin o worship God in our own way. Seeing that they could not frighten us, they sent 300 men to the church and had them to create disorder while the service was going on. These are just instances of the Trouble with Priests.

Dr. Diaz says that the priests have given him much trouble. Now the Spanish authorities think that the preaching and missionary work of Protestant churches is prejudicial to the interests of Spain. Through the efforts of Dr. Diaz, the Baptists have 27,000 members in Cuba. Their sympathies are probably largely with the native Cubans.

"What do you say, doctor, of the reported atrocities committed by the Span are treating the Cubans with great cruelty Noncombatants are severely dealt with. The purpose is to intimidate those who sympathize with the insurgents. This was is marked by horrible atrocities. The Spanish troops do not get far inland, but within two miles of Havana they have killed at least 100 men, women and chil-dren in cold blood. They shoot and cut down boys and girls. There is no exaggeration about this. Their treatment of the women who are so unfortunate as to fall into their hands is horrible. In th cities they are more particular about their treatment of the families, for they know that we never forgive insults to our Spanish Atrocities.

Dr. Diaz cited as an instance of the harshness of the Spanish the case of a lady from the interior who is in a prison in Havana for no other reason than that she sympathizes with the insurgents, with whom her brothers are fighting. He names case after case where the Spaniards have killed the noncombatants. "Campos was humane. He was a gentleman, and conducted the war as civil-ized people fight. But Weyler is a butcher, and inhuman." There is absolutely no business in Havana now, he states. Food supplies are scarce. The insurgents will not allow are scarce. The insurgents will not allow anything to be taken from the interior into the cities. The little that is grown within a mile or two of the cities is all that finds its way into the markets, and a great part of that is stolen by the soldiers. The Spantards add insult to injury by taking roughly whatever they want. The insurgents ask if they can have articles, and are very polite, the missionary states. He adds that, of course, it is always an apparent pleasure course, it is always an apparent pleasur course, it is always an apparent pleasure to accommodate the insurgent. The polite requests are not refused.

Asked as for his opinion of the outcome of the struggle for the island's independence, Dr. Diaz replied: "It is independence or death with the patriots. They will never consent to anything short of complete independence. The day has passed plete independence. The day has passed for a compromize with home rule. It is simply a question of which can hold out the longest, Spain or Cuba. I think that the Cubans will win. Soon now the ralny season will come on again, and the Spaniards will not be able to do anything in the field. It is true that the patriot armies will not be able to get about as easily as they move now, but they can more than hold their own. Weyler has made no progress. He has established a fortified line across the island, but the Cubans pass and repairs at will. It is manned by perhaps 30,000 soldiers, who are thus taken from other points. They do no harm on the trocha, and they certainly do not worry the insurgent armies. The Cubans prefer death to government by plete independence. The day has passed

Spain, Eventually Cuba will be free. If the United States would only allow the insurgents to buy arms and ammunition

The Cubans in the Field.

A large part of the Cuban army is armed only with the machete. The equipment of the men is very light. Some carry a gun others a pistol and many have neithe The insurgent trusts to luck for his food If he can get nothing else he makes a mea on sugar cane. Beef and sweet potatoes are often obtainable though. Coffee is al most unheard of, but "guarapo," sweetened water, is used for a beverage. The citizens of the interior towns cheerfully share what they have with the patriots It is because of this sympathy that the Spaniards are so cruel when they do capture a small interior town. The Spaniards however, do not attempt to hold any cities except those on the coast.

Something of Dr. Diaz. The history of this missionary is full of interest, as remarked above. It is largely due to his individual exertions that the Baptist church has 27,000 members in Cuba. He has more than twenty missionaries under him on the island, and church property valued at $140,000 in Havana. Dr. Dlaz was born in 1852, the oldest of twenty-four children born to one mother, who was married at the age of twelve years, and is now in good health, a most valuable and hearty coadjutor of her son and the other members of her family. His father was a pharmacist, living in Guanabacoa a town of 17,000 inhabitants, just across the bay to the eastward of Havana. After a good education in the schools of his native town, Alberto became a student in the University of Havana; he, after graduating, studied medicine in the same city and in due time was admitted to practice as a physician. Though his father was not rich, the education of the son was accomplished at a cost of $9,000, continuing through twelve years.

In the rebellion of twenty years ago he joined the insurgents and was made cap-

At Sea on a Log. One afternoon he was sent ahead with a companion to find a suitable spot for an encampment. While thus engaged the two men were surprised by Spanish troopers and found themselves in danger of immediate capture or death. They rode their horses hurriedly into a thicket and springing from the saddles pfied the whip to the loosened animals, driving them out of reach, in hope that the Spaniards would go after the horses and forget the riders. They were on a point of land running out into the sea on the southern coast. Instead of following the horses the Spaniards chose to find the men, if possible; but, as the shades of night were gathering around them, they determined to encamp and keep the rebels on the point all night and then take them in the morning. The young men had seen enough of Spanish treatment of prisoners to know that their lives were worth but little to them if they were caught. So, during the night, they procured a plank and knowing that a current was sweeping along the coast, they thought immediate capture or death. They rode worth but little to them if they were caught. So, during the night, they procured a plank and knowing that a current was sweeping along the coast, they thought to get into it and thus be borne beyond the Spanish lines to a place where they might land in safety. But when morning came they were far out of reach of land and unable to reach the shore.

It was a very sorry prospect that opened to them when the sun-came up and its rays beat down upon them. No food, no water for their thirst, no possibility of reaching shore. Soon they were seized with cramps; one of them fell off the plank and was drowned; Diaz became unconsclous and in that condition was picked up by a fishing boat, and was soon after placed upon a vessel bound for New York where in due time he arrived, a stranger and penniless, in a great city.

He said yesterday that he did not know how long he was adrift on the log, as he was unconscious when picked up. He was converted in New York and in the course of time returned to Cuba and became a missionary for the Baptist church. Once when he was taking two boxes of Bibles into the interior he was arrested. The authorities thought that he was carrying ammunition to conspirators.

Yesterday, on arriving here, he went to the home of Dr. Tichenor. During the forenoon he was at the offices of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist church, in the Temple Court building. Many old friends called there and met the missionary. All had a hearty greeting for him. Some of his friends took him up to Motes's gallery for a photograph, and going and coming he was stopped every few paces by old acquaintances. The accompanying picture is from one of the sittings yesterday at Motes's.

Today Dr. Diaz goes to Chattanooga to attend the Southern Baptist convention.

A 'CUE AT COLD SPRINGS. Delegates to the Golden Chain Lodge

Will Be Feasted. The members of the Supreme Order of the Golden Chain, who are holding their the Golden Chain, who are holding their convention in this city, were in secret session yestspday. During the forenoon the ladies of the party were tendered a carriage drive by the local lodge. The whole morning was very pleasantly spent by them in driving through and about the city viewing the most interesting parts, of which there are any number.

During the afternoon a delightful carride was participated in by all of the visitors, something which was thoroughly enjoyed by them. They rode through the suburbs of the city and out Peachtree and every one pronounced Atlanta an ideal city.

This afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock the This afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock the visitors, with members of the local lodge, will take a trip to Cold Springs, where a Georgia barbecue will be given them. The train will return to the city at about 6 o'clock in the evening.

It is possible that all of the business of the convention will be completed tomorrow morning, and in that case the convention will adjourn.

GOUT WATER. THE GOUT WATER.

It Goes by Special Order to Europe for Uric Acid Diathesis, Gout, Rheumatic Gout, Rheumatism, etc. It is a Positive and the Only Known Solvent of Stone in the Bladder. Its Value in Bright's Disease.

Dr. Thomas H. Buckler, of PARIS (formerly of Baltimore), suggester of Lithia as a Solvent for Uric Dr. Alfred L. Loomis, Professor of Pathology and Practical Medicine in the Medical Department of Acid, says: "Nothing I could say would add to the well-known reputation of the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER I have frequently used it with good results in URIC ACID DIATHESIS, RHEUMATISM and GOUT, and with this object I have ordered it to Europe, from Coleman & Rogers, of Baltimore. The County Commissioners Transacted Important Business Yesterday.

SEVERAL REPORTS WERE FILED

Tax Receiver Armistead's Books Found To Be Correct.

BIDS FOR THE NEW BRIDGE WERE OPENED

The Board Was in Session Several Hours and Many Interesting Questions Were Disposed Of.

The regular monthly sess on of the board of county commissioners which was held yesterday morning was unusually interesting and important, and a number of questions relating to the welfare of the county came up for discussion and adjustment. The report of the finance committee or the Cooper shortage was rendered and was based upon the investigation which has been made by an expert accountant, A. L.

After some little discussion, the report was referred to the finance committee and the county attorney with power to act. An investigation will be made by the attorneys of Mr. Cooper and then the committee and the attorneys will hold a conference looking toward a final settle-

A number of public roads in the county were ordered to be improved, some of them others simply to be graded and placed in passable condition before the fall and winter rains make them untit for heavy

The report of the condition of the books in the office of Tax Receiver Armistead was made before the board and it was adopted, one copy being ordered spread upon the minutes of the board and another copy to be furnished Mr. Armistead. The report was made by the finance committee, and was the result of an expert accountant who was engaged by the board at the request of Mr. Armistead. The last grand jury severely criticised the manner in quest of Mr. Armistead. The last grand jury severely criticised the manner in which the tax digests were kept by Tax Receiver Armistead, alleging that many duplicate returns had been made upon which Mr. Armistead was given a commission. The report of the finance committee showed that no duplicates had been entered and for the term of two years errors amounting only to $2.50 were discovered.

Report on the Tax Diorests

Report on the Tax Digests. The report on the condition of the tax receiver's digest was handed in by Commissioner Adair, and was read as follows missioner Adair, and was read as follows by him before the board:

"You instructed to examine the tax digests of this county for 1894 and 1895 for errors claimed to have been made by Mr.

"M. Armistead, the tax receiver, in enering numerous 'duplicate returns' upon which it is claimed the county has paid him a large amount of commissions.

"My report has been necessarily delayed by other work which I have been doing for the county, but is now complete and submitted here with.

"I have made a careful examination of both digests and of the original returns from which they were made up, but have failed to find any 'duplicate returns' in either digest.

"I find some few returns, which the final settlement of the tax proves to be double returns. This, however, could not be determined beforehand, and there is not sufficient similarity in any two of them to have warranted the receiver in throwing out either.

To repairs and improvements, and the commissioners stated that they were anxious to see all of the roads in the county in good condition before the winter rains washed them out and made them impassable.

For Analyzing a Stomach.

The cost of analyzing the contents of the stomach of Ida Elliott, who died under suspicious circumstances several weeks ago in Bellwood, and on account of whose death Charles Hotton was out either.

"The returns under similar names differ either in the address of the tax payer, or in the description, location or value of the property returned; and these differences are material.

"In the case of Milo S. Freeman on the digest of 1895, I find a return made by H. M. Atkinson for Milo S. Freeman, a non-resident, on city real estate valued at $15,000, and a return by Milo S. Freeman, residing at No. 700 South Pryor street, for poll tax, $3,000 city real estate and $250 personal property.

poll tax, $3,000 city real estate and $250 personal property.

"I do not think there is sufficient similarity in these two returns to authorize the receiver to throw out either; especially when there are numerous other returns on the digest more nearly alike than these, and yet made for, or by, entirely different persons of the same name, as proved by the payment of tax on both.

"In the case of Mr. Freeman it developed when the time came to pay the tax that the return made by Mr. Atkinson was an error, but it is one for which the tax receiver can not, in my judgment, be held responsible.

sible. "The commissions paid the receiver by the county were increased only $2 by this error, and for all other errors of a like nature in the digest of 1895 not exceeding $1 additional.

"On the digest of 1894 the total amount of commissions paid by the county on account of errors of this character does not amount to $2.

"The commissions paid by the county on amount to $2.

"The commissions paid by the county on this digest for errors and releases of every kind, including fi. fas. returned 'nulla bona' on returns, called 'duplicate returns' by the grand jury committee, as shown by final settlement of A. P. Stewart, tax collector, with the county, will not amount to $10.

"The returns, as made, are carefully filed in alphabetic order in drawers made for the purpose, and I experienced no trouble in finding those to which I wished to refer.

refer.
"Considering the large number of names and the immense value of the digests the errors of all kinds are insignificant and indicate a great degree of care on the part of Mr. Armistead and his assistants in the work of making up the digests."

To Grade the County Roads.

in the best condition possible, each road to be worked as it was reached by the convict gang, and that the most important roads be perfectly graded and many of them paved with either stone or chert. While the question of roads was being discussed, Mr. Richardson and Mr. Woods White, who reside at College Park, addressed the commissioners and asked that work on the road from the city limits to College Park be commenced at once, as the other portions of the county were receiving more attention than this end. The matter brought on quite a lively discussion, but was finally disposed of on motion of Mr. Walter Brown, who offered motion of Mr. Walter Brown, who offered a resolution that the residents of East Point and College Fark secure the right of way for a sixty-foot road and report back to the board of commissioners. It is quite probable that the road will be graded and paved from the city limits to College Park, which will carry the road to the limits of Fulton county. Commissioner Brown reported that a large force of convicts was now engaged at work on the Hapeville road, and that the road would be completed as soon as the work could possibly be done.

of whose death Charles Hotton was convicted, has been placed at $250, and a bill for that amount was placed in the hands of Clerk Kontz several days ago. The bill was accepted by the coroner but the commissioners were of the opinion that the charge was excessive, and it was

The Big Bull Was on Both Sides of the Market Yesterday.

FIRST STRONG AND THEN WEAK

Business Increased in Stocks, but the Close Was Lower on Heavy Gold Withdrawals.

The advance in cotton yesterday was not so rapid as for the past few days. In fact it looked at one time as if there would be a rapid decline, as shortly after the opening prices were allowed to ease off, but the decline was soon recovered in the summer positions, the close being practically the same as the close of Tues-day. The fall months are a little lower.

Liverpool was better at the opening, with spots advanced 1-321 and sales of 12,000 bales. The improvement was afterwards lost with an additional 1 to 1½ points.

The Liverpool opening was encouraging and this, together with support by the big big logered New York unchanged to 6. and this, together with support by the big bull, opened New York unchanged to 6 points higher. The leading bull later turned seller. He was joined by operators of all sizes and some 7 to 15 points were lost. There was another down turn and still later another rally, which left prices as above stated.

The following crop and weather reports were received by private wire by the Paine-Murphy Brokerage Company yesterday:

Paine-Murphy Brokerage Company yesterday:

Alabama—Drought in the eastern counties was broken by moderate rains, and general and heavy rains in the remainder of the state, delaying work, but accelerating growth. Cotton is doing well and shopping progressing. Showers over the central and southeastern portions of the state have been very beneficial to all crops, but more rain is needed over the northwestern portion of the state for all crops, and especially to sprout planted cotton. Arkansas—Weather favorable except in west portions, where rain is much needed. Planting is about completed in cotton with good stands and being cultivated. Cotton in the central and east portion being damaged by cut worms.

North Carolina—First of the week was cool, but the latter part the temperature and rainfall generally above normal and very favorable. Planting of cotton approaching completion except in eastern protein Louisiana—Highly beneficial showers on the 2d and 3d. The week was warm with ample sunshine. Conditions very favorable, though more rain needed in northeast partishes. Cotton chopping is general.

South Carolina—Timely rains improved crop conditions decidedly. Generally good stands of corn and cotton. Cotton being chemical cut.

Florida-The week was more favorable. although general rains are needed. Scat-acred but refreshing showers over all dis-tricts, being heavy along the gulf coast. Drought severe on all products. Late corn unsatisfactory.

McIntyre & Wardwell's Cotton Letter.

New York, May 6.—The advance at the start today was due mainly to support given the market by the large operator who has been bulling the market of late. Then, too, the early Liverpool cables were higher, but later the big bull turned seller, and other operators, large and small, also took profits. Prices thereupon reacted and declined sharply. There was a rally at one time on a renewal of bull buying, but still later prices again took a downward course. Prices opened unchanged to 6 points higher, lost the improvement and declined 7 to 10 points; recovered the loss, but subsequently reacted and closed 1 to 5 points lower for the day. May ended unchanged. The closing tone was steady after sales of 193,000 bales. Liverpool advanced ½ to 1½ points, but lost the rise and declined 1 to 1½ points. Spot cotton there advanced 1-32d, with sales of 12,000 bales. New Orleans advanced 6 points, but lost the Improvement. There was some new buying of the summer months today. Receipts at the ports were 5,563 bales, against 5,887 last week, 4,199 last year and 3,694 in 1894. Thus far this week 25,420, against 5,885 thus far last week. Spot cotton here was unchanged, with sales of 235 for shipment and 1,400 delivered on contract. Mobile advanced ½ c. New Orleans sold 3,600, Augusta 1,288, Norfolk 428, Mobile 200 and St. Louis 129 bales. Augusta received today 305, against 64 last week and 109 last year Memph's 165, against 148 and 122. St. Louis 63. against 628 and 315; Cincinnati 708, against 1,334 and 497. Memphis shipped today 2,211, St. Louis 1,309, Houston 1,519. Houston expects tomorrow 700 to 800, against 2,000, against 2,777 last week, 2,229 last year and 757 in 1894. In Manchester cloths were firm; there was not much doing in yarns.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter. New York, May 6.—Our market yesterday showed the absence of that anxious short interest which for the past thirty days has been the four dation for the advance, but is at last night's prices, but the other positions are irregular and lower than last evening. The trade still looks for higher prices on the summer positions, notwithstanding the increased acreage reports and the good erop advices coming to hand.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, May 6.—Cotton opened unchanged to 4 points higher, lost the improvement and declined 7 to 10 points, recovered the loss, but still later reacted and closed 1 to 5 points lower for the day. May closed unchanged. The ending was steady after sales of 193,000 bales.

Today's Features—The market today ruled very feverish, and the fluctuations in prices were sharp and frequent. The leading bull was again a buyer, and the Liverpool market was higher and more active. So prices advanced here at the start. At the advance, however, there was free tentizing, and the large operator also took profits, causing a sharp reaction. But at the decline the bulls, were again liberal tyers, and those who sold early look lock heir cotton, and prices turned upward and regained all of the loss, Subsequently realizing again became general, and the late Liverpool cables were weaker. Thereupon prices were weakened again and declined slowly. The short interest in this market is now very small. The weekly report by the government was very favorable, German houses were good buyers of December.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, May 6.—(Special.)—The cotton market was alternately strong and weak today, closing at about last night's prices. August opened at 8.15 and advanced to 8.18, but the traders rightly suspected that Mr. Inman was selling, whereupon August quickly dropped to 8.07. At the decline Mr. Inman became a buyer, and August rallied to 8.16, but the recovery was not fully maintained, and August closed at 8.13 bid, with the tone steady. Nobody can tell what Mr. Inman, who has engineered the advance with consummate skill, may or may not do with the summer months, but with the present crop outlook we do not believe that he will be able to force any material advance in September or the later deliveries.

The Div Goods Market. New York, May 6.—There has been a considerable accession to the number of visitors to the dry goods market today, but the majority of them have spent their time in the auction rooms, which have oeftred an unusual combination of attractions. In the way of regular trade at first hands, results have been of average proportions.

The Mcvement of Cotton.

New Orleans, May 6.—The cotton exchange statements of distribution of cotton movement by the geographical divisions is as follows:

For eight months of the present season from September to April inclusive. Actual delivery of cotton from the state of Texas has been 1,796,387 bales, against 3,193,124 last year, and 1,948,897 the year before that. THE STOCK MARKET.

Gold Withdrawals Are Beginning To Have Their Effect.

New York, May 6.—There was a moderate increase in business at the stock exchange teday, out the market is still under the control of the professionals. Outside interest, much to the regret of commission houses, is at a very low ebb, and the changes that occur in prices from day to day simply reflect the opinions of a half dozen or so room traders. At the start the tendency of prices was downward, the conparatively heavy withdrawals of gold from the subtreasury—$2,230,000—the bulk of which is for export and rumors that President Cleveland intended to send in a warlike message to congress on the Cuban question having assisted local bears in their work of depressing prices. As of late the New York, May 6 .- There was a moder warlike message to congress on the Cuban question having assisted local bears in their district of the past thirty days has been the fourdation for the advance, but the market today has shown the presence of sustaining orders, and the trade is filled with the impression that the decline today was allowed only for the purpose of accumulating more cotton. With this idea uppermost commission houses continue to advise their friends unstrone circums no matter how tempting the price may appear to be looking. Our advices from Manchester continue to report a better busined market for the purpose of accumulating and, while it is an old anxiom he English spinner buys at the ton is at the bottom, the market does readon quad, although a large amount of Absolutindicate that the movement has continued to report a best for the closing up of contracts by lears, and although a large amount of Absolutindicate that the movement has cent. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Shorts Bought Enought Wheat To Sus-tain Prices.

Chicago, May 6.—Wheat made a slight gain in price today. Weak spots punctuated the session, but the predominating tone favored the holder. It could not be claimed that anything of a materially important nature 'ame to hand. In fact, the opposite was the case, but the shorts bought enough to support prices, in addition to which the bullish sentiment of some pecple induced them to purchase a little. July wheat opened from 62%@62%c, sold between 61% and 62%@62%c, closing at 62%c—¼c higher than yesterday. Cash wheat was steady. cas steady. Corn—A slight enhancement in the value

Corn—A slight enhancement in the value of corn came through the medium of strength imparted by wheat. The movement was at best slow and sluggish, and nothing in the trade or news was possessed of enough importance to merit especial comment. What little information as to planting or stocks in hand was calculated to depress rather than invigorate the tone. July corn opened at 29%c, sold at 29%c, closing at 29%c bid—a shade higher than yesterday. Cash corn was firm and ½c per bushel higher.

Oats were inactive, Juli and featureless. The market dragged through the session, even the sympathy with the other markets having an indifferent and indistinct effect. July oats closed a shade higher.

Previsions—The provisions market was in a moribund state. A moderate gain was achieved at the start, but through lifelessness and inactivity prices were prevented from making any further advance. What little trading took place was of a purely professional and local character. July pork closed a shade higher than yesterday, July lard and ribs unchanged.

the 62c there was good buying by some of our most successful local speculators and early sellers, and prices rapidly advanced 4c. News seemed about evenly divided. Foreign advices quoted Liverpool closing steady for spot, but lower on futures, while continental markets were firm especially Foreign advices quoted Liverpool closing steady for spot, but lower on futures, while continental markets were firm, especially for Berlin. The Orange Judd Farmer was bearish, making the May condition of the west 88.7 versus 87 last month, and report prospect exceedingly flattering in Kansas. On the other hand, it is stated the Ohio state crop report will show a very low condition—about 33 per cent. St. Louis parties were buying on this. Clearances were light, as were also northwestern receipts. Some of the wheat that has been shipped via lakes reached the seaboard today, and holders felt encouraged somewhat on prospect of large clearances. There were numerous reports from Illinois and Tennessee saying army files and chinch bugs were in large numbers in a great many localities in those states, but as yet no serious complaint of damage has been received. A great deal will depend now on the export demand as well as late inquiry; both of which have been fairly good today. It seems quite evident, however, that investors are buying around present figures, and that the market has a firm undertone, not withstanding the heavy local selling and bearish feeling expressed by professionals. Clearances of corn were large at over Clearances of corn were large at over 600,000 bushels, and receipts were light. This caused a steady feeling in the speculative Provisions were steady on a higher hog market at the yards and a fairly good de-mand for September ribs, both by shorts and for foreign account.

EY & TYLER,

The infusion of this trade - conquering element is stimulating and inspiring. It suffuses every nook and corner with a winning brilliancy and pervades every department with an impalpable but triumphant Goods-selling is in our blood and brain.

No obstacle, antagonism or competition can suppress or impede the power of our ambition. There is no present, prospective, permanent or period ical rival who can possibly render the service that we do.

This great sale was necessary. More than one reason made it absolutely imperative.

Our policy of partnership with the public prompts us to share with you the myriad Bargains we have lately secured through various channels of trade. Within a very short time we'll have a corps of managers in the markets in the interest of their respective departments. We want these trained and skilled people to have ample opportunity to employ their tastes and talents. To bring that about, our groaning shelves, counters and fixtures must find relief through "Special Sale" measures.

Dress ate the variety, rarity Goods and excellence of the Bargains displayed in this colossal assembly of beautiful men of taste and wisdom. Every sale is new, bright and fashionable. Not a swatch of it is old, doubtful or out of tune with the season. How different from the miscellaneous accumulations of trash that are shrieked at you elsewhere!

POOR WILL PICNIC

They Will Go Down to Decatur on an Outing Saturday.

WILL ENJOY A FINE BARBECUE

Wesley Hall Mission Preparing To Give Them a Grand Day of Pleasure.

The picnic of the poor will occur Saturday. It will be given under the auspices of the Wesley Hall Mission Society and a large party of people, young and old, who are not so plentifully provided with the world's goods as to be able to indulge in a pleasant outings at their own expense, will go out and enjoy a day of perfect pleasure.

The picnic is being prepared for, as stated, by the Wesley Hall Mission Society, which has its headquarters at 154 W. Peters street, and which is one of the most helpful organizations for the accomplishment of practical good among the poct that the city has. It is regularly attended by a large number of poor people of all ages, and these will go out with the outing party. All the poor of the city are invited to go out and bountiful provision is being made to care for as large a number as may wish to go.

The Wesley Hall mission is unique among Atlanta's charitable and religious organizations. It does not seek alone to supply the spiritual wants of those who attend it, but looks after the physical wants of the poor as well.

The missin serves an elegant Sunday morning breakfast to the poor every Sun-day morning and these feasts always draw to the mission hall an eager throng. These Sunday morning breakfasts have come to be a great institution in the western part of the city and the poor people flock to them early in the morning, and that they enjoy them only a glance into the big hall while the breakfast is in progress is needed to

Rev. W. A. Dodge is in charge of the services at the mission. At 8 o'clock in the morning a band meeting is held and the levoted workers in the mission strive by every means they know to direct the houghts of the visitors to better things. At 9:30 o'clock the mixed throng of un ortunates, those whom vice, adverse cireft without means or influence, sit down enjoy the nice, warm delicacies which voted hands have prepared for them. is a spectacle well worth seeing to see them, many of them poorly fed, with appetites keen with hunger, enjoy the re etites keen with hunger, enjoy the reast. The zealous laborers in the work ave been more than repaid for their rouble by seeing the pleasure and relief hich they give to the unfortunates. Sunday school is held at 3 o'clock in the fternoon and is almost always well attended. Preaching by Dr. Dodge or some ther minister occurs at 7:30 o'clock. On londay night at 7:30 a song service is eld; on Tuesday night, at the same hour, holiness service: on Thursday night, a ospel service, and at 7:30 o'clock a young nan's prayer service. The mission has een in existence over a year and although nodestly begun, it has flourished in a nost gratifying manner. It has accomdished a vast amount of good among a lass that could not have been reached by he church and those who reside in the dishity or have been in any way intersted in the work testify warmly to the ffleacy of the work that is being done.

The board of control of the mission is devoted to its success and works unceasingly for its advancement. Following are the members of the board: vice chairman; W. P. Archer, treasurer; R. E. Boyle, secretary; Rev. John O'Donznelly, G. T. Dodd, Mrs. Lizzie Ozborn. Rev. W. A. Dodge, W. H. Brotherton, G. W. Lewis and James Pendleton.

The success that the mission has met with in ministering to the needs of the poor suggested the picnic which is to be given Saturday. It will be an enlargement of the field of the mission.

THE POLICE PICNIC.

The Annual Outing of the Officers Will Be Held at Indian Spring. The regular annual picnic of the police orce of Atlanta will be held at Indian force of Atlanta will be held at Indian Springs, Ga., today. These occasions are always enjoyable, and are characterized by large and refined crowds.

The train will leave the depot about 7 oclock this morning, and will return about 7 this evening. There will be good music by a fine orchestra, choice refreshments and many opportunities for amusement will be found at the grounds. The tickets are only $1 for the round trip, and all the friends of the officers are cordially invited to attend.

Merchants, Look Out for bargains. The stock of L. Snider, 82 and 84 Whitehall, will be sold in lots to suit purchasers. Sale will continue from day to day until everything is sold out.

PEN LETTER FROM THE FAMOUS DIVINE AND AUTHOR

Telling of the Absolute Merit Possessed by a Remedy for Nervous Debility.

The Most Noteworthy Testimonial Ever Given-It Has Helped Thousands of Sick People.

The best test of a remedy is the cure that it effects. The next best is the testimony of people of the highest character as to the merits of the medicine. Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets have cured thousands and there is not a more famous man alive in America than Edward Everett Hale, D. D. LL. D., the best known preacher, editor, author and philanthropist in New ands and there a than Edward Everett fale, D. D. LI. D., the best known preacher, editor, author and philanthropist in New England. Writing from Boston, December 3, 1895, Dr. Hale says:

"I have been much interested in the Kola and as a jonie. In Africa, where the Kola or Guru nuts grow, the natives eat the fresh nuts to prevent hunger, thirst and exhaustion." For some years the medical profession has given Kola much attention because of its medical qualities, but heretofore the difficulty has been in getting the fresh nut in an available preparation so as to retain the medicinal properties. This difficulty is now overcome by that remarkable establishment, the Eureka Chemical and Manufacturing Company, of LaCrosse, Wis., which has put upon the market a very efficient and highly approved preparation. I am assured by a careful inquiry among leading physicians and personal friends who have used it and in whom I have the utmost confidence, that Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets are invaluable in insomnia and all nervous diseases.

Excursion to Tampa.

Those of our people who went on the personally conducted excursion to Tampa, run last year by the Georgia Southern and Florida railway, will remember with pleasure their enjoyable experience and will be pleased to learn that the Georgia Southern and Florida will run another excur-sion to Tampa on Monday, May 25th. It is sion to Tampa on Monday, May 25th. It is intended by the passenger department to make this excursion even mere enjoyable than that of last year. Arrangements are being made to give the excursionists cheap trips to the fishing grounds and down the Manatee river to the orange groves. There are many interesting points in and around Tampa, among which are Ybor City and West Tampa, with their large cigar factories and Cuban population; Tampa bay bettel, the largest and most richly furnished hotel in the world. With its fresh breeze from the gulf, Tampa is a delightful place in May.

The fare for the round trip has been put at the following very low rates:
From LaGrange, $7; Macon, $7; Cordele, $5; Tifton, $4; Valdosta, $3; correspondingly low rates from intermediate points, which will enable all to take a most delightful outing.

Full particulars of this trip will be pub-lished later.

In the meantime those desiring further information can obtain it by applying to any agent of the Georgia Southern and Flerida railway. apr28-2w any agent of the Florida railway.

$5.85 Round Trip to Savannah. on account of interstate drill and gala week at Savannah, round trip tickets will be sold via Central of Georgia railway on May 1th, 12th and 13th at $5.85 and on May 9th, 19th and 14th at $8.36, tickets good returning until May 18th. WHERE SHALL, WE SPEND THE SUMMERP

Lookout Inn, Lookout Mountain, Tenn. the Palace Hotel of the South

Offers inducements superior to any other resort in the south. Here the atmosphere is always cool and clear. The nights are perfect. There are no mosquitoes and malaria is absolutely unknown. The scenery is the finest in the world, so pronounced by the historian Bancroft, the great traveler Stanley and a host of others. Lookout Inn is a beautiful gem of architecture, built of the famous old red sand stone and wood; finished in the interior throughout in quartered oak, and decorated by some of the best known artists of the country at enormous expense. The water used on the tables is from the celebrated Leonora Spring, the purest in the world. This historic resort promises to be unusually brilliant this season. Write for circulars and terms to M. S. Gibson, manager. Special rates for May and June.

Dr. Thomas S. Powell.

I have found the use of the water from your Lithia spring in South Carolina so effi-cacious in the case of a young lady patient of mine, who has suffered for years with diabetes with all its different attendants that I want to add my testimonial to the many you already have. The patient I refer to has used the water freely at home for scarcely a month now, with more beneficial results than from months spent at the different noted lithia springs in different parts of the United States, besides long continued use of the same waters at home. Other of my patients and friends are now using the same with best results. I cordially recommend it to all suffering from similar diseases. Very respectfully yours, THOMAS S. POWELL, M. D. President Southern Medical College, Atlanta, Ga.
